Appointed Head Of Water Dept.

John G. McIntosh has been appointed water-sewer superintendent in the department of public works, by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

McIntosh will serve under Public Works Director Robert McQuade and fills a position vacant since the retirement a few years ago of Donald C. Bassett.

McIntosh, who served as an engineering aide in the public works department in the early 1960's, has been serving as a chief resident engineer for Camp, Dresser and McKee, consulting firm.

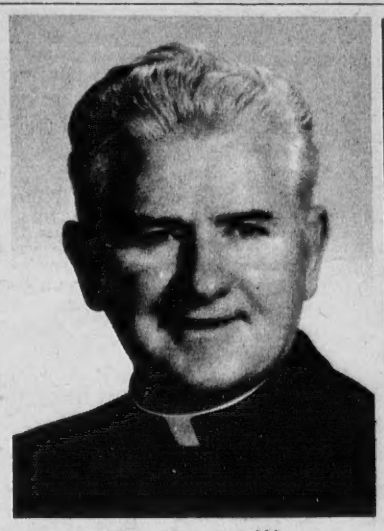

He has served in that capacity on several water and sewer projects supervised by the consulting firm, as well as the installation of water treatment plants under their design and direction.

Town Manager Austin said he felt the appointment was a valuable one for the town, pointing to the experience McIntosh has had in the field and his knowledge of the town.

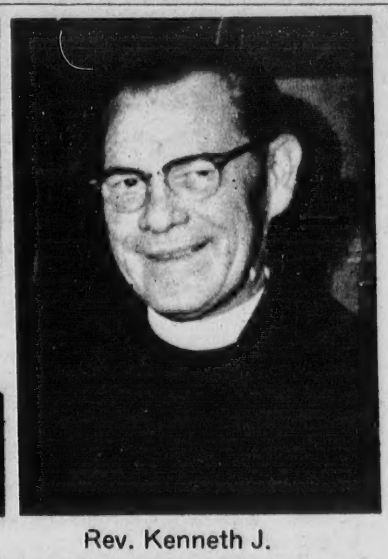

The manager feels his experience with the installation of major water projects and facilities throughout New England will permit him to bring valuable knowledge to the town.

The appointment will also relieve DPW Director McQuade of some of his supervisory duties at a time when the work facing the director is becoming greater, in

St. Augustine's To Have New Pastor

Rev. Jerome A. Holland, O.S.A., a Lawrence native, has been appointed pastor of St. Augustine's parish.

He will assume his new duties June 5, succeeding Very Rev. Kenneth J. Kennedy, O.S.A., pastor for the past several years, who has been assigned to a parish in Greenwich, N. Y.

Father Holland has been on the faculty of Merrimack College for the past three and one-half years, where he has served in the counseling center.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holland, now residents of North Andover, Father Holland graduated from Central Catholic High school, Lawrence in 1945. He was ordained in the Augustinian order in 1954 in Washington, D. C., and served for 13 years as guidance director at Archbishop Carroll High school in Washington, D. C. He also has been a member of the Augustinian mission band for a time before being assigned to the Merrimack faculty.

On May 22, Father Holland will receive his doctorate degree in pastoral counseling from Andover-Newton Theological school.

His assignment to St. Augustine's will mark his first work in a parish.

Father Kennedy will be assuming duties as pastor of a parish near his home which is in the Lake George area of New York.

During this past week, plans were formulated by members of St. Augustine's to honor Father Kennedy at a reception to be held June 11 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Andover Country club.

An invitation has been extended to friends of Father Kennedy in Andover as well as the Greater Lawrence area.

Father Kennedy, who has been pastor here for seven years, will

Dump Report Due For May 22 Airing

A discussion of the proposed site for a new dump may be scheduled for a week from Monday.

That was the announcement made by the selectmen last Monday night, as they indicated that they had not officially received the report from Metcalf and Eddy concerning the two proposed locations, and were awaiting recommendations of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

The consultants have recommended two sites for the town's consideration, one abutting the Lowell Junction industrial park, the other the so-called Cyr-Cronin gravel pit off Woburn street.

Town Manager Austin said this week that he and McQuade were still examining the report and studying various cost factors.

The manager said that he and McQuade were quite cognizant of the fact that no one wants a so-called "dump" in their neighborhood and all efforts were being made to temper the final decision.

The report under consideration, the manager emphasized, is merely an engineering recommendation concerning the two sites. The consultants did not and were not expected to consider cost factors involved.

Also, the manager pointed out, the state health authorities must be approached on the subject before any local decisions are made.

The state will have to approve the site selected. Austin said efforts were being made to meet with state authorities either this week or early next week to go over the engineering proposals.

While the consultants have pointed out that from an engineering cost factor, the Lowell Junction site seems more advisable, there are other matters to be considered, Austin pointed out.

A major factor is cost of site acquisition. The Fitzgerald property in the Lowell Junction area, is industrially zoned, which would have a price differential to consider.

Both sites would have to be supplied with water lines, a building, and sanitary facilities.

Austin said that the selectmen had not seen the report as yet and would be presented with his recommendations as soon as all factors have been considered.

Monday night, an unidentified abutter of the Cyr-Cronin area appeared at the meeting of the selectmen questioning when the

Principal Transfer To Assist Planning

With the planning stages for the renovation of the Doherty school underway, some administrative changes, similar to those which preceded the opening of the Bancroft school have been effected in the school department.

Earl Simon, principal of the Bancroft since its opening, a post to which he was transferred from the South school administrative post, has been assigned to the Doherty school, while Edward Regan, Doherty principal, has been moved to the Bancroft.

Simon was assigned to special study for the implementation of the flexible school system prior to the opening of the Bancroft and became its administrator prior to its opening.

The renovation of the Doherty and Shawsheen schools for which the town appropriated $65,000 in planning funds at town meeting this year, is to bring those two schools in line with the flexible programming throughout the entire school system.

Simon's transfer is to assist in the planning stages of the renovation program.

The transfer will begin on a part time basis before the close of the school year and will be in full effect by the middle of the summer.

Where possible and advisable, there will be other staff transfers between the two schools, according to school administrators.

Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert feels that moves within the system such as this are to accomplish the fulfillment of the overall educational program.

In announcing the transfers this week, Assistant Superintendent Vaughn I. Clapp said:

The prospect of renovating the Doherty and Shawsheen schools to provide those sections of the community with flexible areas requires an immediate look at the tasks

North Andover Group To Join With Andover YMCA

The Community Centers of North Andover, Inc., will formally and permanently unite with the Andover Branch of the Greater Lawrence Y.M.C.A. according to an announcement made this week by Charles Swanson, President of the Community Center.

Earlier this month the board of directors of the Center had petitioned the board of directors of the Andover Y.M.C.A. to consider a merger. Representatives met and resolved the few obstacles to the proposed union which was then voted by the governing bodies of the two agencies and approved by the Board of Directors of the Greater Lawrence Y.M.C.A.

Under the agreement, to take effect Oct. 1, the Community Center will remain a corporate body for the sole purpose of holding title to property and other assets of the corporation with the right of ultimate disposal.

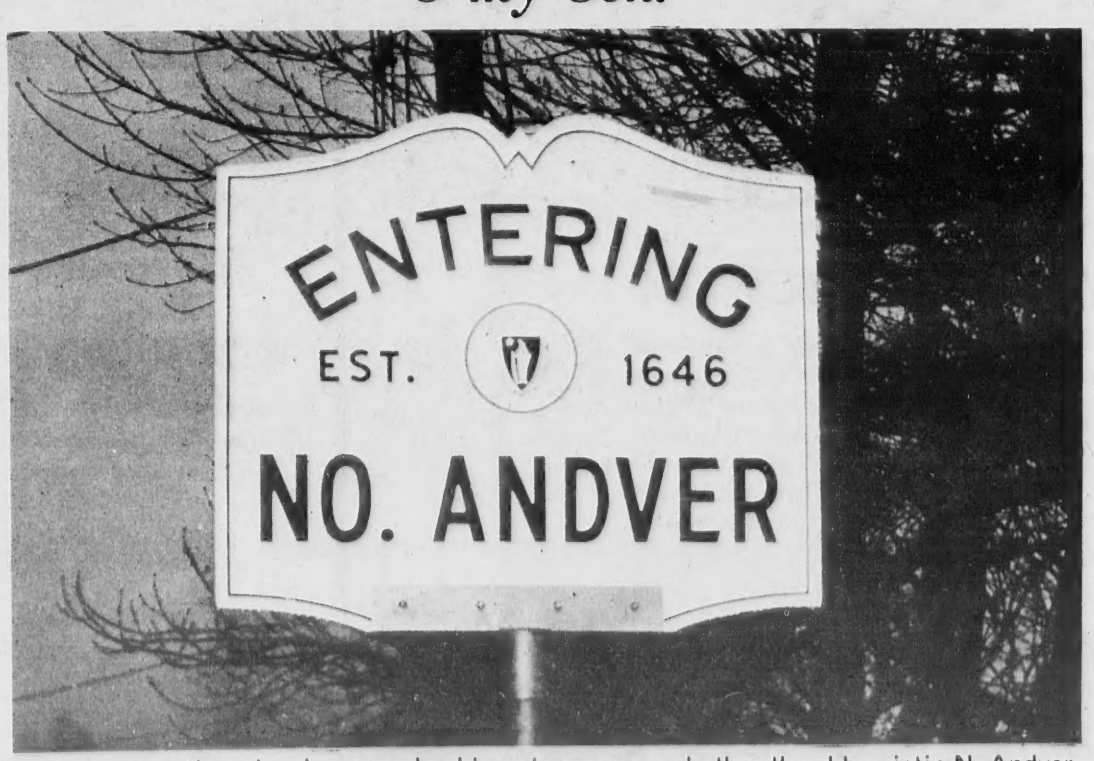

The Andover Y.M.C.A. will absorb the Community Center membership and move as rapidly as possible in the direction of full program servicing for North Andover residents and meanwhile it will operate the "Barn" as a Y.M.C.A. outpost conducting there any Y.M.C.A. programs for which the facility is considered adequate.

During the past year the Andover Y.M.C.A. has provided leadership for the center, as did the Lawrence Y.M.C.A. also for a period of time a few years ago, and a varied and expanded program has resulted.

The board of directors of the center is satisfied that the Y.M.C.A. is best qualified to serve the program needs of the townspeople as the Community Center has endeavored to do for the past quarter century.

The North Andover Community Center directors now endorse and fully support the current campaign for funds which will build a new family type Y.M.C.A. to serve both Andover and North Andover.

Y Building Campaign Enters Third Phase

The third phase, "Task Force for Victory," of the Andover - North Andover YMCA Building Campaign got underway in Andover, with a meeting of 50 men and women at the Bay State National Bank meeting room, Tuesday, May 9. The North Andover section met Wednesday with over 50 people attending a kick-off meeting at the Arlington Trust Company meeting room, North Andover.

Anthony DiDio of 350 Lowell St., Andover, is serving as chairman of the Andover section, and Richard Rochon of 30 Norman Road, North Andover, is chairman of the North Andover section.

Campaign General Chairman Robert Henderson reported that the "Task Force for Victory" will continue for the remainder of the month of May. He further reported that $957,000. has been pledged to date, and that the goal of $1.5 million will be met.

Chairman DiDio has three divisions, with three teams each and a total of 49 workers in the Andover section. Andover Division Chairmen are: Harry Bedell, Division I; Walter Taft, Division II; and Frank Umanzio, Division III. Serving as Team Captains in these Divisions are: Frank Travis, Norman Merrill, John Sleath, Robert Davis, Leonard Peltier, Joseph Pennick, Mrs. Harold Rutter and William Martin.

During the Andover meeting, Chairman DiDio explained the needs of the campaign and the material on hand. A question and answer period gave everyone a broad understanding of the Family "Y" and all workers accepted at least six prospect cards.

Scouts Help In Cleanup

For Scouts across the country, Saturday, April 29 was kick-off day for another SOAR-year (Save Our American Resources). Saturday was designated "Keep America Beautiful Day." Over 100 Scouts and Explorers participated in Andover, helping to clean-up areas across from the town dump, along the Shawsheen River, various AVIS lands and other areas as well.

Scouts from Andover Troops: 70, 72, 75, 77, 79 and Explorer Posts: 74 and 77 picked up loads of debris.

Career Of Excellence To End

Dorothy Partridge will retire from the Andover public school system in June after a remarkable career of professional and civic service to education.

She has influenced thousands of Andover students with her high standards of excellence, her love of literature, ideas and the arts, and her gracious and sympathetic manner.

The record of Mrs. Walter Partridge's service forms a veritable history of public school education in this community since the 1930's. She has been English teacher, classicist, department head; she has served as school committeewoman, assistant principal and principal, as special assistant to the superintendent and, once more and always, as a teacher.

"For many years Mrs. Partridge has given unselfishly of her time and energy for the benefit of our Andover children," Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert says of her. He pays tribute to the sense of duty and responsibility that marks her accomplishments, her willingness to serve on the school committee and accept administrative responsibility in the school system. "But her greatest love, and perhaps her greatest contribution to education has been the way she has influenced individual students. She has a long history of student successes. Her impact on Andover will be remembered for years to come."

Right now, Dorothy Partridge is teaching a new and highly praised course in individualized reading at the high school, for 11th and 12th graders. In addition, she teaches grammar and composition to two classes of sophomores. "It's an expository writing course," she explains, "aimed at giving first year students the competency to express themselves in good clear prose."

Mrs. Partridge also has writing and editing responsibilities at the schools' central administrative office. She now is compiling a glossary of educational terms for the system.

It is a full day, but she also offers an evening inservice course. Her enthusiasm betrays that this is a favorite. Sixteen secretaries and teacher's aides are enrolled in Dorothy Partridge's Wednesday evening course in "How To Improve Your Writing." Four of them, she says, are former pupils.

Mrs. Partridge's roots are here. Born Dorothy Trott, she first attended the Richardson School on Lowell Street, when Shawsheen was known as Frye Village. She remarks that individualized teaching was going on more than 50 years ago in that one-room village school. She studied at Stowe School, where her office now is, at Punchard High School, and in the liberal arts college of Boston University.

Mrs. Dorothy Partridge

She has studied since then at the Breadloaf School of English, Middlebury, Vt., with Robert Frost in residence, at Harvard University and Cambridge University in England.

After five years of experience in other high schools, she returned to teach English at Punchard High. Here she also coached girls' basketball and field hockey teams and led the Junior King's Daughters, the interfaith group of 100 girls who helped the needy during the 1930's. Many of these later belonged to Dorothy Partridge's USO group, which functioned during World War II.

While she was teaching at Punchard High, the town voted to add a gymnasium, cafeteria and east wing to the building, now East Junior High School. The high school went on double sessions. When the addition was complete, the seventh and eighthgraders from Stowe, and the 9th graders moved into the East Wing, and became Andover's first junior high school. Dorothy Partridge became head of its English department.

She left teaching to marry Walter Partridge, an engineering graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In those days a teacher was required to resign if she married.

Mrs. Partridge served 12 years on the Andover school committee while her children were growing up. She was also active in other areas: a board member of the League of Women Voters, the November Club and the Andover Garden Club; a founding member of the North Andover-Andover Parents' League, a deaconess of South Church, and a director for over 20 years of both the Weekday School of Religious Studies and the Andover YMCA, previously the Andover Guild and the Andover Youth Center.

Before her return to teaching at the Andover Junior High School, in 1956, she taught English and Latin at Pike School and a course in geometry at Abbot Academy. She also was a staff writer for NESDEC, the New England School Development Council in Cambridge.

Mrs. Partridge taught English when she returned to the junior high school, but she later inherited the Latin classes too. She then became, in succession, foreign language department head, assistant principal and, when the junior high split in 1967, principal of East Junior High. She has combined administration with teaching, and now has come full circle again by teaching English courses at the high school, as she did in the 1930's.

Helen Enman, a teacher at West Junion High and a former colleague, praises Dorothy Partridge's administrative efforts to upgrade the teaching profession, and her extra efforts to back up and help new teachers. "She is honestly sympathetic to young people, also to teachers, and she has always tried to pass on a love of literature and ideas. She taught a lot more than conjugating in those Latin classes!"

Her teaching has been praised by whole families of students, but Dorothy has decided that "when you begin to have grandchildren of former students, it's time to retire."

Retirement is not far in distance either, for the Partridge's gray house on Bartlet Street is just across the street from her office at Stowe School, where she was a student years ago.

Walter Partridge also plans to retire this summer, from his work at the BOSTIK Division of USM Chemical Co. Next year the Partridges will be spending several months in Europe, particularly in Tubingen, Germany. Here their daughter Joy will be after her marriage, for her husband-to-be has won a Fullbright Fellowship for study at the University of Tubingen. Son David Partridge is now with the Chemical Bank of New York, after completing naval services, so there will be many trips in that direction to visit his family.

At home in the gray house on Bartlet Street, retirement will mean life at a different pace - cousulting engineering for Walter and writing for Dorothy, and the companionship of friends.

Tribute comes from one of these, Dr. James H. Grew, who retires this year as head of the Modern Language Division of Phillips Academy.

Dr. Grew writes:

This town can be forever grateful to Dorothy Partridge for her many contributions to our schools, as teacher, administrator and School Committee member. She has stood firm against the encroachments of laissez faire and today's relaxed standards towards education and behavior. Yet she has always shown warmth and sympathy in her treatment of her charges. We see her step down with regret. Fortunately for us she plans to stay in Andover so those of us lucky enough to call her friend can still benefit from her wisdom, her understanding and her selfless concern for others.

Roger W. Curtis, noted North Shore artist will present a demonstration of oil painting at the monthly meeting of the Andovers Artists Guild to be held on Sunday, May 14 at 2:30 p.m. in the Doherty School Auditorium, Bartlet St.

Well known for his seascapes, the artist has exhibited his work at the Wilna Gallery in Chicago, the Sheldon Swope Museum in Indiana, and the Copley Society and Doll and Richards in Boston. Mr. Curtis is the treasurer of the North Shore Art Association and the American Artist Professional League, and a member of the Copley Society and the Concord Art Association as well as being listed in Who's Who in America.

The meeting is open to the public for a nominal fee. Refreshments will be served at which time there will be an opportunity to speak to the artist.

Clown Town Coming On May 20

Members of the Andona Society are currently planning the annual presentation of Clown Town to be held at the Andover Playstead on May 20.

Each and every member of the society will appear bright and early at the playstead dressed as a clown, wearing her happiest face and ready to help young and old alike to enjoy this exciting day of fun.

Chairmen of Clown Town are Mrs. Robert Fredrickson, Mrs. John Reddington and Mrs. Carter Tallman with the following members in charge: Mrs. Robert Kellan, downtown "strolling"; Mrs. Leonard Gardner, bakery; Mrs. Bruce Taylor, grabs; Mrs. Robert Muldoon, ice cream; Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, make-up; Mrs. David Starkweather, penny candy; Mrs. Anthony Fernandez and Mrs. Paul McVey, cotton candy; Mrs. Brewster Seewald, stagecoach; Mrs. Christopher Cullinan, rides; Mrs. Leo Beltracchi, popcorn and coffee; Mrs. Robert Finlayson, chances; Mrs. Carmine DiAdamo and Mrs. Richard Reichter, games; Mrs. Richard Desmarais and Mrs. Edwin Parker, clown hats; Mrs. Arthur Peirson, puppets; Mrs. Frank Dyer, hot dogs; Mrs. Peter Price, white elephant; Mrs. Thomas Swift, balloons; Mrs. John Atanasoff, snow cones; Mrs. Robert Fredrickson, big show; Mrs. Robert Tassinari, tonic; Mrs. Robert James, zoomobile; Mrs. Charles Montgomery, finances; and Mrs. Sebastian Cavallaro, publicity.

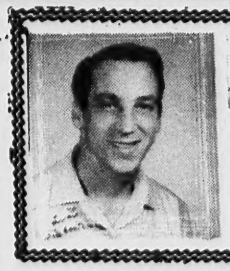

Summer School Forms Available

Course catalogs and registration forms for the Andover secondary summer school will be distributed on Thursday and Friday of this week.

The basis for any summer course is an adequate enrollment, therefore early registration is important. The final course list will be published during the week of June 12.

Further information on the summer high school program may be obtained from Mr. Richardson at the high school.

SEAT BELTS OF THE FUTURE

Seat belts have saved the lives of thousands of persons who had the sense to use them. As for those who are too lazy to use them, they may have their lives saved despite themselves.

The seat belt of the future is now being tested by the U.S. Department of Transportation. It must be buckled around the driver BEFORE he can start the engine. Called "Auto-Safe" interlock belt, it consists of electronically wired belts, pressure switches in each seat, and a special sensing switch in the driver's buckle.

The sensing switch works only when the belt is around the driver and its mercury connector is at a proper angle.

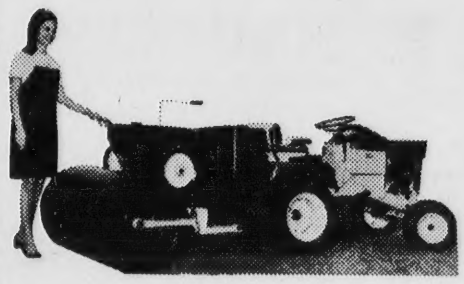

If the belt is accidentally disconnected while the car is running, two things happen. A flashing sign reads, "please fasten seat belts" and a low keyed beep is triggered. The engine keeps running.

High School Art Show

The Andover High School Art Show will have its opening Monday evening, 7:30 - 9 p.m., at the high school, and continue the following evening during the same hours.

Arts and crafts on display will include oils, acrylics, watercolors, graphic art, ceramics, jewelry, pottery and photography by students of Mrs. Karen Perry and Mrs. Sally Santuosuosso. A showing of student films is also planned. Coffee and cookies will be served on opening night.

Tuesday night's exhibition will feature an art and craft sale, a literary montage, and a fashion show of sewing class fashions. A percentage of the art and craft sale profits will go to the ABC (A Better Chance) Program.

Arts, crafts and photography will remain on display until Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

Display of the art works is enhanced this year by giant-sized accordian-fold display mounts. These were financed by a gift of the Trustees of the Punchard Free School, and built by art students, according to Kevin Burke, publicity chairman for the Art Show.

Fitness Awards Are Presented

Dave Silva, Physical Education Instructor at the South School, has announced the award winners of the President's Physical Fitness Test.

The Gold Award is offered to those students who achieve 85th percentile or better in each of the five events; broad jump, 50 yard run, hand and shuttle run.

There were over 200 students given the President's test in which two girls from the Green Wing achieved this high award. They are Kim Bliss and Debbie Tobey.

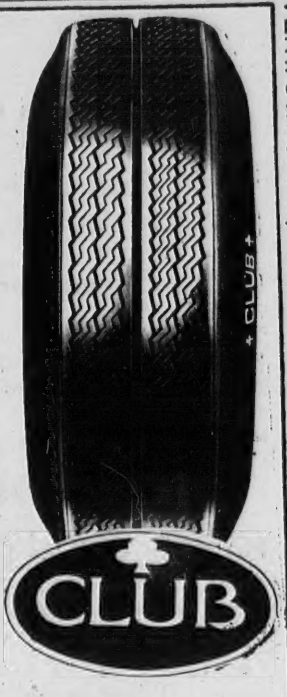

The Silver award represents an average of 80th percentile or better. The eight students who received this honor were: Gail Dewhurst, Deanne Deloury, Peggy Edwards, Garry Lewis, Elaine MacMillan, Leslie Perry, Steve Serley and Cheryl Sharpe.

If you're a poor plane traveler, get as much sleep during the trip as possible. Drink plenty of water and avoid alcohol, which tends to dry out the body, and you'll arrive in finer fettle.

Now there's a better way to wipe out lawn weeds!

TURF BUILDER PLUS 2, Scotts weed-n-feed, is made especially for people who hate lawn weeds and love healthy, green grass. It's easy to use, nothing to mix, measure or spray. PLUS-2 clears out most common non-grass weeds roots and all. It also provides a prolonged feeding for your grass at the same time. Makes it grow greener, thicker, sturdier. The time to spread PLUS-2 is now, while weeds are growing. Then sit back and enjoy a better lawn this year.

Rain Hampers Little League

Rain played havoc with the Andover Little League schedule last week, but by Monday night two teams in each division were undefeated and leading the way.

In the American League the White Sox (3-0) and Twins (2-0) were setting the pace, while in the National League the Giants (3-0) and defending Town Champion Cardinals (1-0) were at the top.

The top pitching effort in the AL was a combined one-hitter by Tiger hurlers Ray Rau and Dave Alexander, while in the NL Cardinals' chuckers Don Eisenhaur and Keith McIntyre also pooled talents for a two-hitter.

Tigers 10, Indians 3 -- Ray Rau and Dave Alexander stopped the Indians' bats with their one-hitter. Rau was credited with the victory.

Alexander also starred at the plate with a long triple, while Neil Faigel belted a three-bagger and Jaimie Dion rapped a double.

Scott Keller collected the lone safety for the Indians. Ed Comeau was the losing hurler, and the Tigers helped themselves defensively by pulling off two double plays.

Twins 7, Red Sox 4 -- Lefthander Geoff Bragdon hurled his second victory in as many mound starts, throttling the Red Sox with 10 strikeouts.

Geoff also excelled at the plate, going 2-for-3 and driving home the clinching run.

Keith Eosefow clubbed a double and single in a 2-for-3 performance, while Dean Russell slammed a triple and Danny Bolduc ripped a double for the winners.

Losing pitcher Tim Sweeney of the Red Sox fanned seven batters. Tim Dubois slapped a triple and Randy Hayman lashed a two-bagger for the Sox.

By Rick Harrison

Twins' catcher Greg Nicastro starred defensively by starting a key double play.

-White Sox 6, Yanks 3 -- Mike Henderson was another two-way standout, whiffing 12 batters to gain the pitching triumph and then hammering an RBI double during the game.

Ray Lynch and Eric Sullivan also contributed RBI doubles for the Sox, while losing Yankee hurler Charlie Souter laced a double and single to help his own cause.

Red Sox 6, Tigers 4 -- The Red Sox capitalized on the wildness of Tiger pitcher Bob Kramer to score five runs in the first en route to the victory.

Kramer, who settled down to pitch fine ball after the opening frame, walked four and was hurt by two errors as the Red Sox took a 5-0 lead.

Randy Hayman went the distance to gain the pitching win, tossing a four-hitter and fanning seven. Kramer finished with a five-hitter and nine strikeouts.

Randy Hayman continued the trend of good hitting pitchers with a solid two-run double and a single. Bob Zwicker added an RBI single for the Sox, while Tim Dubois and Kirk Sweeney also hit safely.

Eddie Collins unloaded a two-run triple for the Tigers, who also received two bingles from Neil Faigel and one from Dave Alexander.

Ricky Collins belted a three-run homer for the Tigers, but the blow was nullified by a technicality.

Kirk Sweeney sparkled defensively in rightfield for the victors, making a fine running catch of a foul ball with two runners on base.

White Sox 10, Indians 9 -- Jimmy Wetterberg upped his pitching record to 2-0 by gaining this triumph in a relief role.

Ray Lynch stroked a double and two singles for the Sox, while Mark Hinds chipped in with a clutch single.

Rick Comeau was the big sticker for the Indians, drilling a double and single. Pete Scheinfein added a single and losing pitcher Dave Birnbach whiffed nine batters.

The White Sox came up with a pair of double plays.

Wednesday - Pirates vs. Braves

Cards 6, Mets 1 -- Don Eisenhour and Keith McIntyre went three frames apiece on the mound. McIntyre didn't allow a hit, and between them the pair tossed a two-hitter while fanning eight batters.

Gary Needham had a big first day at the plate for the Cards, slashing a triple and double for three RBIs.

Tom Coffey and John Cunliffe notched the only Mets' hits, while 10-year-old Kenny Southworth was the losing moundsman.

The Cards notched two runs in the first, three in the second and their final marker in the third stanza.

Mets 22, Cubs 5 -- Andy Bixby did everything for the Mets. He fired a five-hitter and struck out 12 batters on the mound, and was one of four hitters to stroke three safeties at the platter.

Joining Bixby with three solid hits were Chris O'Hara, Tom Coffey and Charlie Wiseman. Kenny Southworth ripped a pair of sharp hits in two trips for the victors.

Greg Stupack guided the Cubs' offensive attack with two hits.

Both leagues are still looking for the first homerun and first no-hitter of the year, and perhaps this could be the week.

Life Saving Course Set

A YMCA Life Saving course will be conducted by the Andover "Y" in the Phillips Academy pool beginning Wednesday, May 17. The course will cover requirements for both YMCA Junior and Senior Life Saving certification and will be open to boys, girls, men and women twelve years of age and over as of June 1. The basic course includes ten hours of training scheduled on successive Wednesdays 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. plus such time as is necessary to complete the requirements.

The course is being conducted as an advanced life saving program and is for individuals already holding Red Cross rating on the junior, senior, or instructor's levels. Completion of YMCA lower level swimming skills is also required for certification but this may be done at a later date.

Prior registration is required at the YMCA, 10 Brook St. Any questions may be addressed to Dick Cate or Elaine Kent at 475-0554.

Wine Wisdom by John Mead

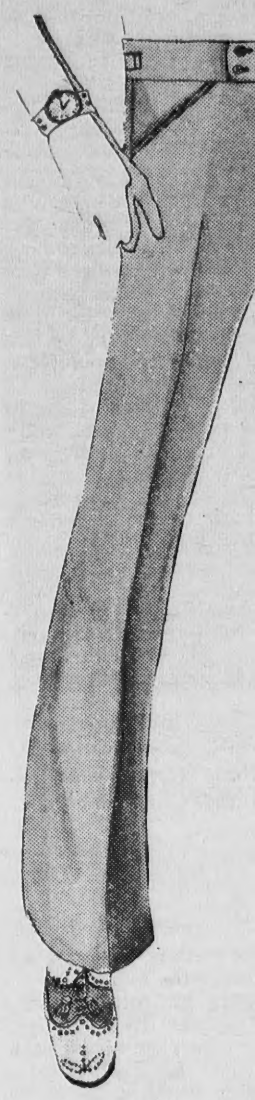

Farewell Madeira

Madeira wine is a family of wines each bearing the name of the grape used in making it or when made with a mixture of grapes it is shipped under a trade name. The dryest Madeira is Sercial which is comparable to a Fino Sherry with a delicate flavor completely its own. Slightly less dry is Verdelho but it is rarely made. Boal or Bual is a golden, generous dessert wine considered the best balanced of all the Madeira wines. Liqueur-like sweetness and body characterize the Malmsey Madeira; Malmsey is the English derivative of Malvasia an ancient white grape type.

Sailing the westerly trade winds American shipping stopped at Madeira bringing home with them this rich wine which soon was the most popular wine in the Colonies. The Madeira was brought to this country in casks, bottled here and then sold under the label of the shipping firm which was most often a well known family name. It was here in the United States that the fifth type of Madeira was developed. A special fining process which took most of the color and suspensions out of the wine was developed by Mr. Habisham of Savannah and this very pale, delicate Madeira was called Rainwater.

The vineyards of Madeira were devasted by first oidium and then the phylloxera, both from the New World, in the late 1800's during which time the wine was not made and since has never regained its popularity. The French (and who knows more about wine?), the world's largest importer of Madeira consider it better than Sherry for cooking and use it as a replacement wherever Sherry is called for.

Orioles In Second Victory

Trends set in the opening games of the American Minor Little League openers continued last week in a rain abbreviated schedule.

The Orioles won another behind Doug Mesler, beating the Yankees 8-4. Doug struck out 12 batters for the second straight time. It was the Yankees second close defeat.

The Red Sox continued their hitting attack with a 22-15 win over the Senators. Billy Kettinger banged three doubles for the winners and Terry Schwing collected a homer and two singles. Mike Beltracchi contributed two singles to the attack and also snuffed out a Senators' rally with an unassisted double play. Red Sox Scott Matheson had three for three at bat and also caught a spectacular deep, line shot to center field. The Senators offense was aided by walks, including four each to Larry Starr and Charles Singer and solid hitting by Jeff Rosen and Don McEvoy.

The Tigers also continued their winning ways with a very close 13-11 victory over the Patriots. Melvin Berger was the hitting star for the Patriots, but the game winning home run belonged to Joel Smith of the Tigers. Brian Bronson was the pitching route for the second time for the Tigers.

The Angels hit solidly again, winning 19-9 over the White Sox. A first inning barrage set the pace for the Angels as Ricky Welch, three for four, homered and Kevin McQuade belted a grand slam. Richard Rotola with two triples, Garry Cairns, two for three, and Kevin Lafferty, two for two, led the attack. For the White Sox Mark Pawlik hit three for four, including a homer and Joel Kefferstan had two long singles.

The Standings: Orioles 2-0, Red Sox 2-0, Angels 1-1, Senators 1-1, Patriots 0-2, White Sox 0-2, Yankees 0-2.

Stein Is President

Election of the presiding officer for the coming year was held at this month's meeting of the Andover Alley Cats, held Friday, May 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Davis, 4 Glenn Cove.

After an evening of regularly scheduled bowling, members met at the Davis home where a business meeting was held. Bernard Stein was elected president. Keeperof the Score, Allan Kenney, explained that announcement of scores of the month would be withheld at this meeting, as scores are presently being tallied for the year in preparation for trophy awards.

A social hour followed the meeting. Guest bowler of the month was Alice Kenney.

Winter, Spring Weeks Returned To Schedule

The school committee has voted, 3-2, to return to its former school calendar which provides for two weeks vacation in the second semester.

The February and April vacation weeks were restored to the calendar at the board's recent meeting. This past year the school year included one vacation week in March.

Dr. Richard A. Katz and School Board Chairman William King were opposed to reverting back to the old schedule, feeling that the new plan had only a one-year trial.

The decision was based on a survey taken by the school department, which asked parents for their opinion. The school committee heard complaints relative to the survey, some noting that the questionnaire was distributed during the vacation periods of other school systems, and that insufficient time was allowed for response.

There was also a request to allow Andover's vacation weeks to differ from other school systems, but it was pointed out that this would be in conflict with state holidays.

The 1972-'73 school calendar as adopted by the committee:

Sept. 5 and 6, teacher orientation and workshop days; Thursday, Sept. 7, schools open for full day; Monday, Oct. 9, school closed, Columbus Day; Monday, Oct. 23, schools closed, Veterans Day; Wednesday, Nov. 22, schools close at noon for Thanksgiving recess; Friday, Dec. 22, schools close at end of day for Thanksgiving recess.

Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1973, schools reopen; Friday, Feb. 16, schools close at end of day for February week vacation; Friday, April 13, schools close at end of day for April week vacation; Monday, May 28, school closed, Memorial Day; Friday, June 22, schools close at noon for students; Tuesday, June 26, teachers released.

The school calendar consists of 185 school days which includes five extra days to allow for inclement weather resulting in possible no school days.

Dr. Solomon Receives Science Grant

Merrimack College Associate Professor of Chemistry, Dr. Barton S. Solomon has received a National Science Foundation Grant to participate in an interdisciplinary program in Applied Ecology at Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Oak Ridge, Tenn. The three week program which will be conducted from June 12 to June 30, is supported jointly by the National Science Foundation and the Oak Ridge Associated Universities.

Dr. Solomon had previously been awarded a 1971 research grant of $2300 from the Research Corporation of New York to pursue research at Merrimack College during Summer, 1971 of fluorescence quenching by benzoic acid. In October, Dr. Solomon presented the results of his research in a paper which was delivered at the Third Northeast Regional Meeting of the American Chemical Society in Buffalo, N.Y.

A member of the Merrimcak College faculty since 1966, Dr. Solomon received his B.A. degree in Chemistry from Union College in 1962. He pursued his doctoral studies in Physical Chemistry and was awarded the Ph.D. in 1967 from the University of New Hampshire. His doctoral thesis was entitled: Resonance Energy Transfer Studies: Dependence of Transfer Properties on the Structure of the Donor Molecule. His research on fluorescence quenching by benzoic acid was related to the continuation of his doctoral research of the past eight years.

Dr. Solomon is a member of the American Chemical Society, the Society for Applied Spectroscopy, and the Society of Sigma Xi. He has published articles on his research in physical chemistry in the Journal of Physical Chemistry and the Journal of the American Chemical Society. He is married to the former Doris Epstein. They have two children and reside in Salem, N.H.

A sleepy baker is responsible for today's famous hard pretzels. Thanks to the slumbering baker who should have been watching his oven, the pretzels overcooked and delicious history was made.

Indian Lore Features Meeting Of Cub Pack 77

Cub Scout Pack 77 of West Parish church held their May Pack meeting recently. The theme for this meeting was Indian Lore and the Cub Scouts had outfitted themselves in full Indian regalia. Most of the articles they wore had been made during den meetings and the boys provided a colorful display to those present. David Remington was especially outstanding in his Indian Warrior's costume and the life sized wigwam constructed by the Bear Dens was quite effective.

The opening ceremonies were conducted by the Webelos Den under the leadership of Scott Donahue and the boys were then given the awards which they had earned in the last month. Robert Kochakian, Robert Jaworski, and Steven Noyes were awarded their Wolf Gold Arrows while Glenn Joiner received his Silver Arrow and Mark Rogers received two Silver Arrows. Mark was also promoted to Bear Den 4 following his accomplishments. Bear Badges were awarded to Joe Veilleux, Barry Newland, Richard Isenberg, Brian Ballard, and Jay McLeod. These five boys also received their Bear Gold Arrows and Brian Ballard and Barry Newland received their Bear Silver Arrows as well. Four Webelos received badges following a variety of accomplishments. Scott Donahue received his Geologist, Athlete, Showman, and Sportsman Badges. Karl Reinker was awarded his Traveler and Naturalist Badges. Billy Orr was given his Athlete Badge while Chris McDaniel received his Engineer and Artist Badges.

Several important dates were announced to this Pack. On May 29, the boys will be participating in the town's annual Memorial Day Parade and the annual Campout and Family Outing will be held on June 9 and 10.

Following the completion of the business portion of the meeting, the Cub Scouts and their families were entertained by Boy Scouts Troop 160 of Salem, N.H. under the leadership of Dave Broughton.

Babe Ruth clouted his last home run in Boston, May 25, 1935.

Andover Hosts Invitational Meet

By Rick Harrison

Andover High will play host to the 13th annual Andover Boosters' Invitational Track Meet this Saturday afternoon (May 13).

The action is slated to begin with the field events at 12 noon, and the running events will follow at 1:45 p.m.

The traditional meet is sponsored by the local Boosters' Club, and run under the direction of AHS track Coach Dick Collins.

Andover, a track powerhouse since Collins assumed control, has dominated the meet since its inception. In fact, even that is an understatement.

Golden Warrior teams have won the meet championship 11 of the first 12 years, with Melrose spoiling the perfect record in 1967.

This year a 10-school field will compete for top honors, with host Andover heading the list.

Invited guests will be Methuen, Melrose, Reading, Danvers, Winthrop, Marblehead, Swampscott, Newburyport and Amesbury.

These are basically the same teams that were invited when the meet was initiated in 1960. At that time Andover was a member of the Northeastern Conference, which still includes most of the above schools.

There will be close to 300 boys competing in the 15 events, with two participants from each school taking part in each event.

The events on the card will be the shot put, discus, javelin, high jump, long jump, pole vault, triple jump, two-mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 180-yard low hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, mile run and the relay.

No less than six defending champs from last year's meet will be returning for a try at their second straight victory.

This has prompted Coach Collins to say: "We expect some tremendous individual performances at this year's meet, judging from what many of these kids did last year."

Leading the list of returning titlists are Andover's Jeff Mower (mile), Archie McLean (100) and Mark DeLisio (low hurdles).

All three of these boys have been consistent winners in dual meet competition this Spring, as the Golden Warriors have racked up a 6-0 record in Merrimack Valley Conference competition to stretch their incredible schoolboy winning streak through 79 straight meets.

Other defending champions returning at their specialties are Bernard of Melrose (javelin), Golden of Reading (220) and Graham of Melrose (880).

"I have a little surprise for the boys in the 220," revealed Collins. "His name is Carnel Cooper."

Cooper has proved to be an outstanding all-around athlete since coming to Andover as part of the ABC program. Collins is high on him.

In addition to his own team, Collins looks for Melrose and Reading to make strong showings. Melrose is a consistent Class A team, while Reading usually places well in the Class B ratings.

The coach has yet to see any of the Northeastern Conference schools, but judging from past performances Danvers should be a threat.

There will be seven special awards handed out to the winners in seven of the events, in addition to the plaques and medals distributed to the top three finishers in each category.

The "Charlie McCullom Memorial Award" will go to the shot put champion.

The "Roger Whitcomb Memorial Award" goes to the long jump winner.

The "Walter 'Stretch' Pearson Memorial Award" is reserved for the high jump victor.

The "James Christy Memorial Award" awaits the 440 champion.

The "John Rooks Memorial Award" is for the high hurdle winner, and the "Hervey Guertin Memorial Award" goes to the 880 victor.

The majority of these awards are named for members of the original Andover Boosters' Club and other selected town officials.

The Lawrence Eagle Tribune also awards its own trophy to the "Outstanding Performer" of the meet. Last year this piece of hardware was captured by AHS hurdler Scott Provencal.

There are some pretty impressive meet records for the 300 competitors to shoot at, and six of them are held by former Andover standout trackmen.

Following is a list of the records:

Shot Put - Driscoll, Melrose, 1970 - 60'4"; Discus - Barrett, Newburyport, 1966 - 149'7"; Javelin - Vardabedian, Melrose, 1966 - 182'6"; High Jump - Winscowicz, Danvers, 1965 - 6'6-1/2".

Long Jump - Leon Sharpe, Andover, 1970 - 22'2"-3/4"; Pole Vault - Steve Skane, Melrose, 1968 - 12'6"; Triple Jump - Porada, Methuen, 1970 - 41'1/4"; Two-Mile - Swain, Reading, 1968 - 9:54.6; High Hurdles - Van Debose, Andover, 1970 - 14.3 secs.; Low Hurdles - M. Skane, Melrose, 1970 - 20.1 secs.

100 - Bill Broderick, Andover, 1968 - 10.0 secs.; 220 - Carter, Danvers, 1967 - 21.9 secs.; (tie) Dave Hixon, Andover, 1970 - 21.9 secs.; 440 - DePaulo, Melrose, 1970 - 49.4 secs.; 880 - Roland Heroux, Andover, 1965 - 1:59.7; Mile - Smith, Marblehead, 1966 - 4:26.9; Relay - Andover (Debose, Sharpe, Nixon, John Wooten), 1970 - 1:30.9.

Demonstration

The Shawsheen School PTO will hold its last regular meeting of the year on Tuesday, May 16 at 7 p.m. in the school library. The program will precede the business meeting and election of officers.

The older children in Unit C will present a music program including instrumental solos and singing under the direction of music teachers Mrs. Barbara Glines and Mrs. Barbara Fogg. They will also present a physical education demonstration under the direction of David Hustin.

The boys working in the audio-visual interest group with the guidance of librarian, Mrs. Mary Ann Murphy, will tape the performances and demonstrate their newly-acquired skills.

Faculty Changes At Academy

An administrative reorganization at Phillips Academy will install Simeone Hyde, Jr., dean of the faculty and now acting headmaster, as associate headmaster, and John Richards, II, present dean of students, as head cluster chairman under the headmaster - elect, Theodore Sizer.

Sizer takes office July 1 as the 12th headmaster of Phillips Academy, founded in 1778. A new position of dean of the academy, responsible for everyday administration of school affairs, has yet to be filled. Hyde said that Sizer is considering the appointment of a younger man from outside for this position.

As associate headmaster, Hyde will be responsible for long range planning in the school. Richards will serve both as head of the Rabbit Pond cluster of dormitories and as chairman of the five heads of clusters. The faculty recently voted to divide the dean's office responsibilities for discipline and student living arrangements among these neighborhood groupings of approximately 120 boys and seven faculty families apiece.

History instructor Thomas Lyons has been appointed head of the West Quad North Cluster, and Joseph Wennick will be head of the Northwest Cluster, comprising smaller dormitories and most day students.

In another reorganization move, Frederick Stott, dean of administration and development, has been named executive officer of Phillips Academy's bi-centennial celebration and the capital fund drive leading up to this event.

Hyde said that the new headmaster hoped to hire a fulltime business manager for the school, who will pull together both the plant management and the financial side.

In departmental changes, John Chivers was named head of the division of modern languages, succeeding Dr. James H. Grew, who retires this June. Thomas Regan will succeed William Brown as chairman of the English department.

HONORED - H. Frank McCarthy Jr. of Farnum St., North Andover, was one of 53 people who attended the Massachusetts General Life Insurance Company's annual President's Club convention held recently at the Barbados Hilton Hotel, Barbados, West Indies. Mr. McCarthy was cited for outstanding individual achievement in production and service during 1971. McCarthy is shown above receiving his award from Mr. Laurance E. Boyden Jr., M.G.L. president.

Bicycling is America's fastest growing outdoor recreation activity, and bike sales have more than doubled in the last eight years.

Hospital Care In Valley Less By $11 Per Day

Costs of Merrimack Valley General Hospitals are about $11 per day or less than for the rest of the state, it is reported by the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council, Inc. The report was based on cost reports from all hospitals in the state, covering 1969 and parts of 1970.

The cost in the nine general hospitals in the Merrimack Valley was $61.18 as compared to an average for the entire state of $72.70. The costs were nearly uniform throughout the region: Greater Lowell, $61.62; Greater Lawrence $60.68, and Haverhill/Newburyport $61.20. Since the average length of stay in a general hospital is about eight days, the reduced costs meant that average hospitalization in the Merrimack Valley was more than $88 below that for hospitals in the rest of the state.

Savings were most marked in administrative expenses, which averaged only $8.41 per day in the region. The state average was $11.35. Pharmacy costs also were about one half of the state averages. Another area of lower costs was in medical/surgical salaries. The valley averaged a cost of only .16 per day, compared to a state average of $1.20.

Nursing service represented the largest single cost in a hospital day, and is a useful indication of the quality of nursing service. Low costs for nursing service may indicate that there may be insufficient nurses to render complete care, while unusually high costs may indicate a degree of inefficiency.

Business Building Is Sold

Two local young businessmen have purchased the former Andover Press building at Main and Chestnut streets.

George E. Heseltine, owner of Dana's Sports Shop, located on Main street in the building and Eugene A. Bernardin, Jr., insurance and real estate agency owner, became the new owners Wednesday afternoon.

Bernardin stated that current plans call for renovation work to be done at the building and that he will move his offices to the location.

Renovation will include work on offices in the building at present as well as other areas of the block which houses the offices of the TOWNSMAN.

Special Olympics Scheduled

Andover will be the host community for the Massachusetts Special Olympics program for the exceptional children to be held at the high school stadium, May 19 beginning at 10 a.m.

Joseph Cleary, Essex County co-ordinator and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, have appointed Guidance Director William J. Igoe as co-ordinator for the program.

Richard Swift, athletic-physical education director and Richard J. Collins, Andover High head track coach, will assist Mr. Igoe in organizing the track and field events. Mrs. Carol Dowd of Methuen will be in charge of the swimming events which will be held at the Phillips Academy pool on Saturday, May 20 beginning at 10 a.m.

Approximately 100 boys and girls will compete during the two day track and swimming event.

The track events for Friday include: 50-yard dash, 300-yard dash, 440 relay, softball throwing, standing broad jump, high jump for those 13 years of age and over.

Swimming events include: 25-yard freestyle, 50-yard freestyle, and 25-yard backstroke.

The winners of various events, on a county level, will participate in the Massachusetts Special Olympics State Meet to be held at Tufts and Northeastern Universities during the middle of June. A track and swimming team will then be selected to represent the state in the National Special Olympics to be held in Los Angeles this summer.

Nearly 73 million people ride bikes in America every year. Estimates are that the figure will jump to 100 million between 1975 and 1980.

Appointed Aide-De-Camp

Captain Peter W. Lichtenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lichtenberger, 70 Spring Grove Road, has received appointment as aide-de-camp to Brigadier General John C. Raaen, Jr., commanding general of the Army Mobility Equipment Command, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. The captain came to the command from Fort Lee, Va., where he was graduated from the Quartermaster Officer Advanced Course on April 28.

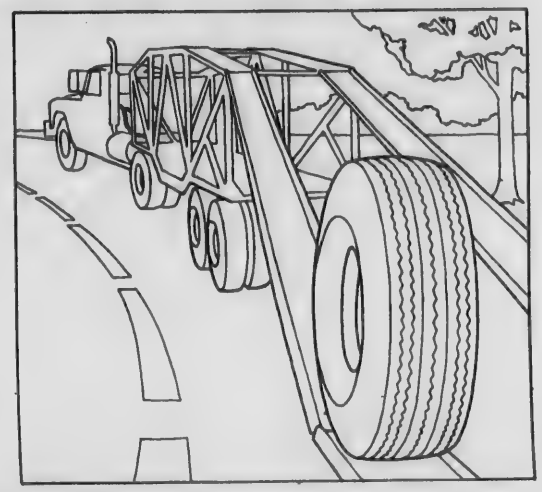

Captain Lichtenberger was graduated from Georgetown University with a B.A. degree in History. He entered the Army Nov. 29 of that year and completed basic and advanced Infantry training at Fort Dix, N.J. He attained his Army commission upon graduation from Quartermaster Officer Candidate School, Fort Lee, Va. He is also a graduate of Basic Airborne School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Captain Lichtenberger served with the 101st Airborne Division in the Republic of Vietnam, first as commanding officer of Headquarters and Headquarters Co. and Band, and later as assistant chief of staff for supply and logistics and technical supply office, 801st Maintenance Battalion. His Military awards and decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, and Army Commendation Medal (First Oak Leaf Cluster).

Astros 10, Phillies 3 - The Astros launched the little league season into orbit with an impressive victory behind the outstanding pitching of their ace moundsman, Seth Lloyd. The Darby brothers, Eric and Eddie, along with Ted Paris supplied the offensive punch for the winners while catcher Bill Crabtree sparked a first rate defensive effort by the Astros.

For the Phillies, J. Dilorio drove in two runs with a big triple while catcher Scott Kelsey was outstanding on defense.

Braves 10, Pirates 5 - Andy Powell and Kevin Seifert divided the pitching as well as the hitting honors in leading their teammates to a hard fought victory over a scrappy Pirate team. Kevin Seifert smashed a three run homerun while Andy Powell delivered a well-stroked triple. Mark Grigoli and Andy Weil also chipped in solid hits.

For the losers, Doug Kirkland at first, John Grecoe at second, and Keith Williams at short were the defensive stars while Doug Kirkland captured offensive honors by virtue of his homerun blast with one mate on board.

Dodgers 9, Cardinals 6 - Fine pitching by Ron Boothby and hard hitting by Dan Dupuis and Sam Chernak added up to victory for the Dodgers. In addition to his timely hitting, Dan Dupuis gave a stellar defensive performance on the field.

The whole Cardinal team gave a well balanced performance both at the plate and on the field as they just narrowly lost this hard fought contest.

Redlegs 9, Giants 3 - Roy Umanzio and Brian Goodson hurled three innings apiece in a great pitching effort for the victorious Redlegs. The versatile Roy Umanzio contributed two booming homeruns to the winning cause while Jim Legros starred on defense.

Matt Billings belted a homerun and Tim Whitton got two hits for two times at bat to lead the Giant hitting attack. The Giant defense gave a fine performance and managed a well-executed double play against the hard running Redlegs.

Braves 14, Giants 8 - Once again Kevin Seifert and Andy Powell spelled double trouble for the opposition as they pitched the Braves to victory. Kevin Seifert clouted his second homerun in as many games to lead the hitting attack. Timely hits were also delivered for the Braves by Mark Grigoli, Robby Serbagi, Billy Scheerer and Andy Weil.

For the losers Teddy Bertholdi showed flashes of greatness in striking out five batters in three innings. Mike Lynch, with a single and a double, the latter being the only extra base hit for the Giants, wielded the big club for the losers.

Phillies 16, Cardinals 11 - One of the most exciting games of the young season saw the Cardinals - at one time trailing 6-0 - forge ahead to an 11-8 lead going into the last inning. However, the spunky Phillies came up with three runs - two of them on a homerun by J. Dilorio - to knot the count at 11 all. In the 8th inning the mighty Phillies exploded for five runs - four of them on a grand slam by Scott Kelsey, his second homerun of the day. J. Dilorio was the winning pitcher holding the Cardinals scoreless in the last three innings of the game.

Paul Bracket with a bases loaded triple led the courageous Cardinal hitters at the plate. Sensational catches of long enemy drives were made by Tim White and Paul Hempstead to capture the defensive honors for the Cardinals.

Redlegs 8, Pirates 6 - Steve Vayanos belted out a last inning 2 run homerun to break a 6-6 tie and give the Redlegs the victory. Tom Busta, shortstop, and Jim Hamilton, catcher, played outstanding defensive ball for the winners.

For the Pirates, Douglas Kirkland knocked out three hits during three times at bat to lead the hitting attack for the losers while John Grecoe turned in a fine pitching effort.

Dodgers 11, Redlegs 8 - Byron Cleveland, Mark Winer and Ron Boothby each collected two hits apiece in leading the Dodgers to victory. The big blow for the winners was Ron Boothby's bases loaded triple. The Dodger pitching staff gave a creditable performance striking out 11 enemy batters but issuing 9 free passes.

For the losers Bob Cataldo pitched a fine game receiving outstanding defensive support from Paul Kramer in right field, while Bill Stahley collected two hits to lead his team at the plate.

The first Scots came from Ireland.

About This Question:

"In personal injury cases, damage awards are now often above $100,000 and sometimes as high as $1,000,000. Some types of liability are not even covered by the usual liability insurance policies. Does the Howe Agency have the new 'Umbrella' Liability Policy that affords excess insurance to cover all liability exposures?"

PLANNING. Rev. John Mulloy and Mrs. Peter Stratis work on last minute details for the election of a parish council at St. Robert Bellarmine parish this Sunday. The parish has had an appointed council in the past. This Sunday parishioners will elect the council on ballots to be distributed at the Masses.

32 Species Of Birds Spotted

The second walk of the spring by the Merrimack Valley Bird Club was held on Sunday, May 7 at Bakers Meadow. Albert Retelle, president of the club, led the walk.

Thirty-five people observed 32 species of birds as they walked around the marsh. The cryptic plummage of the American Bittern was observed as a pair stood motionless blending in with the old reeds and cattails. The group was able to study their brown and white striped and mottled appearance as the pair froze with their neck and beak pointing skyward. Canada geese, belted kingfisher, mallard ducks, chimney swifts, and tree swallows were seen over the pond.

The diminutive ruby-crowned kinglet was noted as it migrated through Andover heading towards its nesting grounds in Canada. Four early spring warblers, the myrtle, yellow and black and white and yellow-throat were added to the day's list. An early Baltimore oriole was seen along the road.

Everyone is welcome on any of the next three Sunday walks. The third walk of the spring of the MVBC will be held on Sunday, May 14 from 6 - 8 a.m. Everyone will meet at Maggie's Place on Rt. 125 (beyond Lake Cochichewick), North Andover. This walk along on old dirt road encompasses many habitats - marshes, rural fields, and dense woods.

The trip will be led by A. M. Wilson. He will be assisted by Mrs. Juliet Kellogg, Ronald Valentine and Kenneth Folsom.

Following this walk, Mr. Wilson will organize a field trip to the Great Meadows National Wildlife Refuge in Concord. Those joining him are encouraged to bring along a sandwich. These walks are open to all those interested in the out-of-doors.

The first United States five cent piece, the nickel, was manufactured and circulated May 16, 1866.

Flower Arranging To Be Topic

Court St. Monica, Catholic Daughters of America, will meet Monday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m. for its business meeting, to be followed at 8:30 p.m. by a floral arrangement demonstration. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

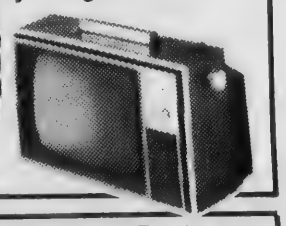

Chairman of the activities for the evening is Angie Calcina. Her committee includes Mary McKeon, Grace McKeon, Marguerite Frawley, Connie Malandrino, Cindy Calcina, Estelle Dumont and Dorothy Apitz.

Recycle Center Planned

Last year's Earth Week event "The Pyramid of Trash," which was collected from town roadsides, piled up in the Municipal Parking lot, and then hauled to the landfill has "grown up" and evolved into this year's Center for Recycling, where sorted trash will be deposited at the same spot, collected by local volunteer groups and sold - thus keeping it out of the landfill.

At Monday's meeting the Board of Selectmen authorized the use of the Municipal Parking lot on Main Street for the collection of recycable trash and voted to "enthusiastically support" the efforts of groups participating in Spring Offensive activities. The selectmen take this opportunity to urge everyone to make this recycling project a success by taking sorted goods to the parking lot between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 20.

Any organization wishing a money-making project is urged to contact Elaine Katz or Mrs. Virginia Cole as soon as possible. It is not necessary for the group to know about how to sort or where to sell the material; all this information is already on file. All proceeds will be retained by the organization which volunteers to collect the goods.

Materials are to be prepared as follows:

Papers - bagged, boxed or tied

Tin cans - labels removed, can rinsed, can flattened wherever possible

Glass - sorted by color; aluminum rings removed.

Aluminum - foil, food trays, pots, screens and frames - as long as it is pure aluminum

Other Metals - separated pure metals only

Rags - bagged, boxed or securely tied

So circle May 20 on your calendar and remember to drop off any of the above at the municipal parking lot in an effort to see how much trash can be kept out of the landfill and how much money can be made from its sale in one day in May.

The skunk has a tablespoon of musk in two glands under the tail; after five or six ejections the supply is replenished in about a week. A skunk "fires" the musk for defense when frightened or persistently provoked, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

Gilbert Holmes

Promoted At Western

Gilbert Holmes, 6 Rocky Hill Road, a Planning Engineer at Western Electric's Merrimack Valley Works, has been promoted to Department Chief, 24240, a new department, effective May 1.

He joined Western Electric in 1965 as an Engineer at the Merrimack Valley Works. He holds a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering and a master's degree in engineering management, and is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

He and his wife, Suzanne, have three children: Jacqueline, 5; Katherine, 3; and Jeffrey, 2.

Reappointed

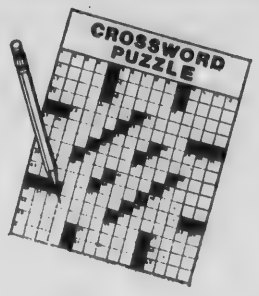

Robert Domingue has been reappointed an associate member of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The selectmen approved the reappointment Monday night.

Ninety species of birds are among the drawings and hieroglyphic records of ancient Egypt. The first known list of birds, compiled by Aristotle (384-322 B.C.) contains 170 species of which 126 are recognizable from descriptions of their habits, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

ahead. Detailed planning involves studying grouping of students, the traffic flow within the buildings, the impact of individualized programs on flexible areas, equipping with more flexible furniture and instructional equipment, and reorganizing staff relationships.

"Miss Isabelle Dobbie, principal at Shawsheen school, worked through the stages from planning through operations while she was at West school. Mr. Simon, principal at Bancroft, has had similar experiences in the planning, construction and operation of that school.

"The school system is deliberately working toward providing students a flexible instructional program. It is necessary for us to use to best advantage facilities and people within the system to provide a broader experience for all staff members."

Simon received his bachelor's degree from Lowell State College and was appointed a teacher at South school in 1960. He was appointed principal there in 1964 and moved to the Bancroft in 1967.

Regan, with a bachelor's degree from Fitchburg State College and a master's from Fairfield University, taught in Stratford, Conn., where he was a principal prior to his appointment as principal of Shawsheen school in 1967. He was named principal of the Doherty school in 1970.

view of regulations governing the operation of a sanitary landfill operation for the town.

McIntosh's knowledge of the community, department and personnel, should be a valuable asset, Austin noted.

The position was not filled when Bassett retired. McQuade was appointed director of the overall department, which includes parks, highways, tree department and cemetery.

Austin recommended recently that the position be reinstituted in view of the increased workload of public works department as well as the increasing responsibilities required with the addition of the new treatment plant. His recommendation was approved.

McIntosh began his new duties Monday and is familiarizing himself with the construction schedule and prospective operation of the treatment plant.

A graduate of Central Catholic High school, Lawrence, the new water superintendent attended Lowell Technological Institute and water works schools. He holds membership in the Water Works Association and the Boston Society of Civil Engineers.

After serving in the engineering department in Andover, he became a construction inspector for Camp, Dresser and McKee in 1964, moving up to resident engineer then chief resident engineer from 1970 to the present for the consultants.

Of the 922,000 participants in manpower programs at the end of fiscal year 1971, 92 percent were disadvantaged, 55 percent were members of minority races (excluding the Spanish surnamed), and 76 percent were under 22 years of age.

board would be discussing the matter.

Chairman Robert A. Watters said hopefully the matter would be on the agenda for the next regular meeting, May 22.

The resident said she was heartended by a recent Eagle-Tribune report concerning the recommendation of the Lowell Junction area.

The selectmen and town manager said that the report was not completely accurate, noting that it reported only the engineering recommendations.

None of the cost factors or other considerations were contained in that report, only the engineers report, the officials stated.

The resident pointed out that the Cyr-Cronin area was residential and that the nearness of the South school should be considered in any final decision.

As the town officials prepare to make a decision on a new site, work continues on the old dump on Chandler road, in the hopes that an extension of time will be allowed.

Austin said that the state is being supplied with all information relative to the town's efforts to meet all standards to qualify the present site as a sanitary landfill, in order that the ordered closing of the area by October can be extended.

The state earlier this year ordered the site closed due to its contributing to pollution of the Fish Brook watershed. Installation of drains around the premises is expected to relieve the pollution conditions and increased fill has been allowed by town meeting vote to provide proper cover for the daily deposit of refuse.

Lake Baikal, Siberia, is the oldest (25 million years) and deepest lake (5,314 ft.), and the largest freshwater lake (395 miles) in the world. One river flows out of it and 336 rivers flow into it; four distinct currents move constantly anti-clockwise, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

In the last half of 1971, training placements by Manpower Apprenticeship Information Centers numbered 4,542 - up 25 percent from 3,617 in the last half of 1970.

Minority placements accounted for 26 percent of the total - or 1,187 - an increase of four percentage points over the 22 percent in the last half of 1970.

LISA McAREE

Accepted At College

Miss Elizabeth Ann McAree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McAree, Dascomb Road, has been accepted at Mount Saint Mary College, Hooksett, N. H.

A senior at Andover High school her extracurricular activities have included glee club, intramural sports, pep club, Future Teachers of American and French club. She was her homeroom representative.

Circle Installs Officers

The annual meeting of the Friendly Circle of the Andover Baptist Church was held Monday evening, May 8, following a covered dish supper in the church vestry. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Richard Lounsbury, Jr. Annual reports were read and plans were discussed for the Circle's entertainment of the Carvell Chapter for the Blind at the church on Wednesday.

At the close of the business meeting the Circle members proceeded with the installation of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Lyle Estell was the installing officer in an impressive candlelight ceremony. Those installed were Mrs. Norman Guild, president; Mrs. Robert Stocks, vice-president; Mrs. Frederick Eastman, secretary; Miss Carol Stocks, treasurer; Mrs. William Hughes, chairman of devotions; Mrs. Donald Blake, chairman of hospitality; Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Ernest Stocks, co-chairmen of finance; Mrs. Frederick Otis and Mrs. Charles A. Shattuck, co-chairmen of publicity.

Students In Telephone Program

Ten area High School students will participate in a New England Telephone - Telephone executive leader for a day-Telfad Program to be held in Greater Lawrence May 16 & 17. High Schools of Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, No. Andover and No. Reading have selected two students to represent their respective school.

Telfad was originated by the Telephone Company on Cape Cod, eight years ago.

Local telephone manager Charles Papalia said since that time, the program has spread to many communities in the New England area and is being introduced by the Bell System throughout the country.

Telfad is a program which exposes students in a large corporate body and gives them insight into multi-management supervision. It familiarizes them with the daily operation of a large company and emphasizes the importance of good communications and cooperation between departments to get a job done properly.

The Telfad agenda consists of the students being picked up in the morning at their homes by the person whose managerial position they will fill. At this time, students get a first-hand report about the particular department they will head before the job begins.

After a day and a half of practical on-the-job experience, students will have an opportunity to discuss what they have done with the other students and telephone personnel.

The program will end with a luncheon where Papalia will present the participants with certificates of achievements.

The students are chosen by the principals and faculty of their high schools. The selection is determined by the students' all-around ability as well as good citizenship.

Representing Andover High school will be: Steven F. Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Boyer, 5 Washington Ave. and John W. O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis O'Donnell, 34 Lincoln St.

Hockey Group Plans Carnival

The Andover Hockey Association has been granted permission to conduct a carnival at the Shawsheen Plaza, May 24 through May 27.

The selectmen granted the permission Monday night, after denying the groups request to run the carnival for six days, May 24 through May 27.

Chairman Robert A. Watters objected to the six days in length of the carnival as well as operating on Sunday, to which Selectman Roger W. Collins also objected.

John E. Deloury, representing the association agreed to the running of the carnival for four days, curtailing of the hours and softened or no music.

The carnival is being run to raise funds for the association to continue and to have sufficient finances for ice time.

It will run from 6 to 10 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and 1 to 10 p.m. on Saturday.

Completes Basic

Army Private Thomas S. Hill, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hill, 42 Chandler Road, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Pvt. Hill received his training with company D of the 2nd Brigades 7th battalion.

He is a 1970 graduate of Andover High school.

Obituary...

MRS. LOUISE M. GORDON

Mrs. Louise M. (O'Leary) Gordon, 50, 8 Binney St., died Wednesday at Bon Secours Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Gordon, who was the widow of James Gordon, was born in Plymouth Feb. 26, 1922. She was a mathematics teacher at Methuen Junior High school. She was a member of St. Augustine's Church.

She leaves a son, Michael K. Gordon of Boston; two daughters, Mrs. Joyce Dixon of Lawrence and Miss Gail Gordon of Andover; two sisters, Mary, wife of Michael Terchio of West Newton and Theresa, wife of T/Sgt. George Spurr, of Iceland; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Friday morning with a Mass of requiem at 9 o'clock in St. Augustine's church. Burial will be in St. Augustine's Cemetery.

Calling hours are today from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the M. A. Burke Memorial Funeral Home, 390 North Main St.

Caution On Fat - Protein

At his last physical, John S., 42-years-old, had a blood test and discovered he had too many fat particles in his blood stream. This condition, if not controlled, would increase his chance of having a heart attack. The fatty deposits (both cholesterol and triglycerides) could build up in his coronary arteries until one of these channels became too narrow for sufficient blood to travel to his heart muscle.

The diagnosis: Hyperlipoproteinemia. More simply -- a fat-protein mixture containing too much (hyper) fat (lipid) circulating with the blood through his body.

Marie B., a young and otherwise healthy 22-year-old, has received the same diagnosis. But the treatment for John S. and Marie B. is not the same.

Scientists have identified five specific types of hyperlipoproteinemia and have established suggestions for treating each through five special diets which have been shown to control the amount of fat in the blood.

John, for example has what is called Type I hyperlipoproteinemia, and Marie, Type II.

John's is a rare disorder, characterized by an inability to clear the blood plasma of triglycerides. Of all five diets, John's is probably the most difficult to follow. He must cut out all types of visible fats -- butter, margarine, shortening, oil, nuts, baked goods containing high fat or dairy foods containing high fats. John can use no fat of any kind in food preparation; and he cannot use fat-containing foods such as sauces, gravies, creams, bacon drippings or dressings. Lean meats, even when trimmed of all visible fat, contribute the major source of fat in the diet and no more than five ounces of meat should be used daily. Dairy products from which the fat is removed are suggested.

Marie's condition, Type II hyperlipoproteinemia, is a more common pattern at all ages. It is characterized by a high cholesterol level and a moderately high triglyceride level. In order to lower her cholesterol level, she must cut down or, in some cases, eliminate high-cholesterol foods. In addition, polyunsaturated fats must replace saturated fats. Marie can eat no more than nine ounces of meat per day. High fat meats (beef, lamb, ham and pork) can be used no more than three times per week. Marie should eat a good deal of chicken and fish, which contain polyunsaturated fats.

The single most important aspect in the dietary management of Types III, IV and V hyperlipoproteinemia is reducing weight to normal or ideal levels. This means, of course, simply eating less and exercising more.

An individual with Type III hyperlipoproteinemia must first reduce his weight to normal. Then, since he has both high cholesterol and high triglyceride levels, he must follow a low-cholesterol, low-fat, and low-carbohydrate diet. He must give up foods high in sugar such as desserts and other sweets. He can drink very little alcohol.

Type IV hyperlipoproteinemia is frequently referred to as carbohydrate-induced. The Type IV person has high triglyceride levels, but a normal or near normal cholesterol level. The diet calls for eating less carbohydrate foods, moderately restricting cholesterol intake, and substituting unsaturated fat for saturated fat. This routine differs from the Type III program in permitting more meat and other cholesterol-containing foods. Here again, weight control is essential.

The person with Type V hyperlipoproteinemia has extremely high triglyceride levels and only a slightly elevated cholesterol level. Like Type III and Type IV individuals, he must first lose weight. Then he must eliminate sweets and desserts, and he must cut out alcohol altogether. Fats are limited and those of unsaturated quality are substituted for saturated types. The protein content of the diet is relatively high.

There is no way other than a blood test for blood fat to detect whether an individual has one of these high-blood-fat conditions. The general rule for average Americans, that is, those with normal blood fat levels, still remains, according to the Heart Association: control weight, limit intake of high-fat and high-cholesterol foods; stop smoking; exercise regularly; and get regular physical checkups.

Complete information about the dietary programs described in this article is available through your physician from the Northeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association.

IGE Drop-In Days Set At Shawsheen

Miss Isabelle Dobbie, principal and the teachers of the Shawsheen school have invited all parents to observe, "IGE Drop-In Days," at the school on Monday, May 15 and Tuesday, May 16, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Parents will have the opportunity to observe their children as they proceed through the regular IGE school program.

An orientation to Andover Individualized Reading System, (AIRS), will be presented by reading specialists Monday at 10 a.m. to further acquaint parents with that new reading program. AIRS allows the child to acquire the necessary reading skills at his own pace and includes opportunity for pleasure reading at his level. The goal is to develop competency and reading enjoyment.

It is hoped that parents will avail themselves of this opportunity to learn about the nature of the program in which their children are participating.

Accountants Planning Discussion

The Merrimack Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its May Discussion meeting at the Log Cabin at the Bird Sanctuary of the Phillips Academy on Wednesday, May 17 at 5 p.m.

The main topics for discussion will be Budgeting and Profit Planning and will be so arranged as to be of perticular benefit to all those participating.

The meeting will be followed by the Annual Clam Bake which, as in the past, always turns out to be a well attended huge success.

The eel is a fish.

SELECTMEN'S AWARD goes to Ted Sutton and Dean Ward, winners of the Open Class in Saturday's AVIS Canoe Race.

PADDLE AWAY! Canoes leave the flagged starting line of the AVIS Canoe Races at one minute intervals.

Prizes Presented Canoeists

The second annual AVIS canoe race was held along the Shawsheen at Horn Bridge on Saturday, May 7. A hundred people including mothers, fathers and many youngsters took part in the three races. They raced in canoes, kayaks, and ten man war canoe and even some home-made craft. Twenty boats entered each race and two young men even entered all three divisions of the races.

The open race was won by Ted Sutton and Mr. Ward.

Selectman Alan French relinquished his prize to Peter Gilbert in the kayak class of the open race.

The intermediate race was won in the men's class by David Otis and David McDonald, the ladies class by Robin Stupack, the family class by Dave, Laurie and Franklin Buchan.

The novice race was won by Steve Alexander and David Syiek, the ladies class by Misses Boren and Skillman. the boys class by David Worthen and Peter French, the father and son class by Gerald and Michael Carrier, and the mother-daughter class by Mary, Hillary and Kathy French.

The timing of each race was done by Alan Hesketh and Claus Dengler. Glen Grant checked each contestant at the Ballardvale turn point. Peter McKee was in charge of the race. He was assisted by Alan Koch and Phillip Dargie. Selectman George Heseltine presented the Andover Selectmen's prize to the winners of the open race.

Over a hundred townspeople picniced and watched the races from the AVIS property at Horn Bridge.

Bicycling has been recommended for good health by the American Medical Association, and countless doctors, including the famous Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Lessons For Seasonal Sams

It's that time of year for Seasonal Sams to appear on the empty lots playing baseball and working out in the neighborhood gym.

Seasonal Sams come in many varieties, says the Northeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, but most are middle-aged, overweight and have sedentary jobs. They like to exercise, but get the urge only a few times a year, usually when the weather changes.

The first warm Saturday in the spring compels a Seasonal Sam to become that high school track star once again. After the day is over Seasonal Sam feels great. But in a few days he gets aches and pains. For the next few Saturdays he prefers to relax in front of the TV set. He won't be ready to exercise again until the first snowflake falls. His first move should be to visit his doctor to learn what type of exercise and how much of it is needed to strengthen his heart muscle, says the Heart Association.

Seasonal Sams have the same problems as the Bulging Bens who work out with weights every day, building their muscles, but doing nothing to help their hearts and lungs. They both know that exercise is needed for good health. What they don't know is that the wrong kind of exercise may actually be harmful. They are no better off than the poor old Listless Larrys who get no exercise at all.

Seasonal Sam, Bulging Ben or Listless Larry, you should see your doctor before taking on any exercise program, the Heart Association recommends. Only he can determine what is best to help you guard and improve the state of your heart and its circulation. He will give you a test to see what exercises you are capable of doing. This test is a "must" for people over thirty-five.

There are other necessary requirements for cardiovascular health and these include avoiding cigarettes, keeping body weight at normal by calorie watching, and controlling the amount and types of fat eaten. This is particularly true for middle-aged persons whose living habits may have increased their risk of heart attack or who have such extra risk diseases as high blood pressure or diabetes.

Some other tips for exercise:

1. If you have a sedentary job and are told to start an exercise program, begin slowly and gradually increase the intensity of training activity over days or even weeks.

2. Do not exercise if you have a minor illness, an infection or are under any stress or emotional turmoil.

3. Avoid hot showers after exercising. Follow your exercises with a restful "cooling down" period. Then take a lukewarm shower. Exercising and hot water do the same thing to the blood vessels: they expand, and the heart must pump more blood. After exercising, the blood vessels should begin to return to normal.

For further information on exercise and your heart, write to the Northeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, 79 North Main St., Andover.

Of Whales And Friends

The endangered whales have a lot of young friends these days doing stories, poems, and pictures about whales and their protection.

"Friends of Whales," a group of artists, writers, and teachers who are interested in ecology and have become particularly concerned about whales, is compiling a book of children's writings and art work on the subject of whales. Their purpose is to publicize the endangered situation of whales throughout the world.

Tamar Griggs, chairman of "Friends of Whales," is looking for poems, stories, myths and essays, and for works of art in any medium that's two-dimensional.

Any child, aged 4 through 14, is invited to submit work. For details on how to enter, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Tamar Griggs, Chairman, Friends of Whales, 112 West 14th St., New York, N.Y. 10011. Deadline for submitting is June 30, 1972.

Of the work she's selected so far, some of the best are the poems. Here are a few:

Here Come The Whales
Here come the whales!
Splashing their tails!
What a sight to see!
If only I could be
A whale of the seas,
It would be fun, but I'm me.
by Lynda Pohwat, Age 10

Poem
Swish, swish, swish,
The whale goes over the waves.
Swish, swish, swish.
The waves move, the whales move, too.
by Eve Josephson, Age 6

With every store around calling their salesmen "Decorating Consultants, Interior Decorators, etc., etc.", it is most confusing to the home furnishings buyer seeking honest, professional advice.

We, at the Studio Shoppe, are indeed proud that we are the ONLY store in the Merrimack Valley staffed by college-trained designers who have been tested and accepted as "Professionals" by the NATIONAL SOCIETY OF INTERIOR DESIGNERS.

Doctors and Lawyers post their credentials prominently in their offices. We legitimate Interior Designers also post ours at the entrance to our showrooms. Always ask . . . to be sure!!

Cash Decreased

A $11. million decrease in the state's cash balance for April over March was noted today by State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane in his latest monthly financial report.

April's cash balance, he reported, was $53,834,025. while in March it was $64,958,311. The decrease resulted when April's disbursements of $333.1 million exceeded the month's receipts by $11. million, the treasurer pointed out.

Massachusetts' bonded indebtedness increased nearly $300. million during the last year, according to Treasurer Crane's report. As of May 1, the state's bonded indebtedness was $1,351,-874,000. For May 1, of 1971 it was $1,069,122,000.

Real Estate Today

By Marjorie C. Kidd, Realtor

"TAKING OVER A GI LOAN"

VA loans are partially guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and hence, like FHA loans, involve less risk for the lenders than conventional loans and carry lower interest rates. Many low-interest VA loans have been made with little or no down payment, which makes them real bargains to assume when buying a home financed in this manner.

A veteran can now normally transfer a GI loan with no strings attached if the VA approves the new owner's credit and the new owner assumes the veteran's loan obligations.

But there are legalities to observe and pitfalls to avoid. For example, shifting the debt to the new owner doesn't automatically erase the seller's responsibility for repayment of the loan in case of default. But this can be arranged with just a little extra effort. In these matters, it's wise to have the professional guidance of a Realtor and lawyer.

The Director

The Community School Study committee is faced with a most difficult task at the moment.

There are 60 applicants seeking appointment to the newly created post of Community school-recreation director for the town.

The study group must screen the applicants and ultimately make a recommendation to the town manager for appointment.

It is an important decision facing the group.

The appointee will step into a new concept in town recreation. Thought behind the move, is to better utilize town facilities, particularly the school buildings in after school hours.

We have mentioned previously that Andover's recreation program has been the subject of debate and recommendation for over a decade.

This latest study was designed to come up with a positive answer to the town's recreation needs once and for all.

It has proven workable in other communities and seems a most advisable method for Andover to pursue.

Since the inception of a professional recreation program in Andover over a decade ago, little has been accomplished which was not already handled well previously by a volunteer committee.

Now, based on the recommendations presented to the selectmen, and accepted, the town is to have an overall program developed with a professional community organizer at the top.

The committee has received some guidance from professional groups interested in the community school concept.

Now comes the highly responsible task of making a selection.

It is hoped that the committee will bear in mind that the town's administrative structure is already somewhat burdensome.

Additional professional personnel can only be accommodated if they are prepared to implement the proposed program and get it moving quickly and competently.

Vacations

We are happy to see that the school committee, by a majority vote has returned to the former school vacation schedule.

This past year, due to the new Monday holiday regulations, the school department chose to allow only a single week during the winter months, that to fall in mid-March.

At their meeting a week ago, the school board decided to revert back to the two weeks - one in February and one in April - as is most common in surrounding and other school systems.

There are those, among them Dr. Richard A. Katz and Chairman William King, who feel that the new Andover scheduled was not given a fair trial.

The thought is well taken, but, we fear, another year will prove repetitious of what happened this year.

Rather than a single week respite, some students, and teachers, wound up with three weeks, the one scheduled, then special trips programmed by travel and educational specialists for the regular February and April weeks.

We appreciate the fact that Andover generally shies from conformity. But there are certain things which make such action almost compulsory, school vacation periods being one.

We really have no particular feelings on the matter of school vacations, simply that this past year seemed to be a bad example of a good plan.

The idea was well taken, but it was fraught with too many possibilities of exemptions.

We reiterate the feeling expressed here a few weeks ago that an overall school program is geared toward providing a total education.

Exemption for convenience sake can prove to be disruptive.

The new school calendar, adopted in sufficient time for individual planning, seems a sensible solution, and provides for an educational program to which all can conform.

ACT

We would like to offer our commendation to the many people involved in the recent production of "George Washington Slept Here," produced by members of the Andover Community Theater.

Whoever commented about "Ne'r the twain shall meet," hardly had this group in mind.

ACT, is a new organization dedicated to providing good community theater and is the rebirth of a group famous hereabouts in years gone by, "The Adventurers."

This new group is a blend of the members of the old organization and new residents of the community, all dedicated toward one goal, providing entertainment for the public as well as themselves.

Their first production was well received.

In addition to the sterling performances by those on stage, there were countless members of the production who labored backstage, designed sets, handled the business end and a myriad of other duties.

Buoyed with the confidence which replaced stagefright of the first performance, ACT is making ambitious plans for next season, with the possible inclusion of a musical presentation.

Based on these initial efforts, the group is most certainly worthy of community endorsement.

What Our Readers Say:

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The Andover High Varsity Club would like to express their sincere thanks to all the citizens of Andover in helping make the scholarship car wash held last Saturday, a success. The money made will be used to support a scholarship at graduation in honor of Warren C. Deyermond, a former president of the Varsity Club who was killed in Vietnam.

Any further donations to the scholarship fund will be gladly accepted and can be sent to the Varsity Club, in care of Andover High School.

Nancy Rich

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Congratulations to the Selectmen for their informative "1972 Budget Summary" which was given to those at a session of town meeting and which concerned the water department only.

However, on page 21 of the consultant's report concerning adjustment of water rates, it states that "The present practice of the department in reading meters is to have the meter reader compute, on site, the amount of water used. Since this computation is made later by the town's computor in the billing process, this is a waste of the meter reader's time and we recommend that it be discontinued."

Is there any selectman who as a water commissioner knows when this recommendation was put into practice and can tell us how much money is being saved by it?

It would be helpful to know too what are the prospects of using these savings for reducing some of the $26,000 that town meeting was induced to allocate for another consultant program? Will a selectman volunteer the information?

May we be informed also to what extent has the recent placing of over 200 acres of residential land into industrial so as to accommodate Raytheon been the cause of making a new master distribution plan necessary?

It is hoped that this $26,000 plan will not be used to "justify" spending of large amounts rather than adjusting water rates so that large users pay enough for such capital costs.

Incidentally, industrial water consumption continues to be disproportionately large in relation to industrial property taxation. Industry uses more than 35 percent of the water yet industrial taxation supplies only 15 percent of the property tax. Therefore, it continues to be a large injustice to require property taxes on homes to pay 85 percent of capital costs of the water system.

In case anyone is wondering Norm MacDonald ajudged the current atmospheric conditions with a big X.

For the lawn mowing public, rest up, because that soaking is giving the green carpet a lush appearance which will have to be manicured once the rain halts.

How come another person's yard is always more appealing to the family offspring?

We hear of a number of cases where any number of excuses can be dreamed up to avoid such menial tasks as raking, etc. around personal premises.

But somehow, the neighbor, friend or teacher, seems to have a more appealing method of getting such tasks performed at virtually similar rates.

The selectmen Monday night, faced with a request for permission to conduct a carnival, were wondering when such an event was last held in Andover.

It was recalled that it may have been some time ago, possibly during the World War II period, when such events were staged annually on the Playstead.

The fire department used to run them at one time also.

During the war years a variety of rides were set up on the playstead grounds and booths set up offering a variety of items for hopeful contestants at ring tossing, baseball throwing and circular games of chance. (Can't call them wheels, you know.)

One can anticipate the impending possibility of Red Sox Manager Eddie Kasko being unemployed any day now.

The team is doing badly, in case anyone had really noticed what with the Bruins Stanley Cup quest taking precedence these days.

Naturally the immediate answer to the problem in major league baseball is to dump the manager.

Not that we have any compassion for the present Red Sox manager, but it seems rather incongruous that the manager is the entire fault of team flops. But that's baseball, one presumes.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli
Director of Music

"The first musician was Nature."

Insects hummed and birds sang. The wind sighed from giant trees and ferns. The rain made gentle music as it fell upon rocks and upturned leaves. Water trickled down mountain creeks, and the waves gurgled and splashed on beaches of pebbles and sand.

Thunder boomed across the sky. The world became alive with sound.

But, in speaking of early times, when the world was very young and man had no means of writing down his thoughts, we must ask imagination to help us.

Primitive man soon found that he could pass on his meaning to others using the sounds which came from his throat. We can imagine that when he wanted to warn his family of danger he did so by a sudden yell. We can also suppose that ordinary conversation was carried on by a series of grunts, some high, some low, some long, some short.

Gradually he learned to make up words, and so speech began.

Primitive people also found pleasure in a simple form of dancing, making noises as they jumped and whirled about. Because the words which accompanied their dancing sounded better if chanted, singing began.

The songs of early man would sound strange to our ears today, but in those far-off times they expressed the feelings of those simple people.

As times went on they discovered that other sounds could be made besides those which came from their throats.

From something that began as a means of self-expression gradually developed a form of entertainment for the benefit of others, which became the basis of instrumental and vocal music; ballet, oratorio, and opera.

Mrs. Stevenson Retires As President

The Shawsheen Village Woman's Club held their annual meeting and banquet recently at the Lanam Club. Mrs. Frank Stevenson presided. This meeting ended Mrs. Stevenson's two-year term as president. Mrs. U. S. Berger ended a four year term as treasurer.

The executive board for the coming two year term consists of Mrs. Marco Pettoruto, president; Mrs. Frank Schiller, vice-president; Mrs. John Hess, second vice-president; Mrs. Edmund Wesolowski, recording secretary; Mrs. Daniel Conlon, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Russell Bennett, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Dooley and Mrs. John Tiernan were elected to the Board of Directors. Entertainment for the evening was a musical program by The Formalaires.

Hostess Chairmen were Mrs. Russell Bennett and Mrs. Theodore Reed.

Beacon Hill Observations

By Bill Kirtz

Job security and community control are the issues at odds as moves continue to eliminate tenure for school superintendents and to make school teachers wait five years before they can get that protected status.

Advocates of Salem Democrat Rep. Henry O'Donnell's bill to abolish superintendents' tenure say a community's top educator is less under the gun with the multi-year contracts they propose than under the present system: where the school head is either dismissed or given tenure until he retires after three years' service.

But Fred Maffeo, of the state's Association of School Superintendents, is trying hard to amend the O'Donnell bill so that a superintendent would at least get three-year contracts.

"This job is the most critical in the community," contends the former Natick educator.

"The superintendent is in the middle of every situation, and if he has no protection he may be forced to make decisions according to what's popular."

The O'Donnell bill has already received a favorable report from the state's Committee on Education and favorable votes from both Houses. But Mr. Maffeo hopes that the introduction of a three-year contract clause will at least let school heads know they'll be around for awhile.

If the measure is adopted in its present form, Mr. Maffeo predicts, few superintendents will dare to switch jobs and thus face the uncertainty of a year-to-year appointment elsewhere.

Rep. O'Donnell, whose measure passed the House but was defeated by the Senate last year, sees Mr. Maffeo's proposal as a mere "ploy to scuttle" the bill.

"My bill protects superintendents already on tenure," he maintains, "and gives them all the protection of tenure on multi-year contracts. The younger superintendents not on tenure back this. It's the older ones who are on tenure who oppose it."

The lawmaker -- a former teacher himself -- feels that since the superintendent's job is one of a community's highest-paid posts, it should come up for periodic review.

NO SECOND-RATERS?

The present teacher surplus has led State Rep. Nicholas Buglione to the view that by delaying tenure by two years, a school system won't have to settle for second-raters.

Now, says the Methuen Democrat, "a teacher can work hard for the first three years, get tenure and then lose initiative."

His bill, which has won the Education Committee's approval would let school administrators take the four to five years he feels it takes to really evaluate a teacher -- and for someone to develop into a really good one -- before making a permanent hiring decision.

Rep. Buglione, an eight-year member of his community's School Committee, concedes that "politics do crop in" when it's time to consider whether to retain a teacher. For this reason, he feels that some tenure system is fair and necessary.

"But there are are more teachers than there are jobs right now," he notes, "and we ought to make sure that we get the best teachers. After all, in college teaching, you don't get tenure until at least seven years."

The lawmaker predicts that the Massachusetts Teachers' Association will give his bill stiff opposition when it comes up for House and Senate debate.

And Teachers' Association spokesman Richard Durkin defends his fight on the grounds that the people he represents need protection because they're involved in "the most emotional issue of all -- somebody's children."

He says that tenure -- which prevents dismissal except for "moral turpitude, insubordination (or) incompetency," -- is designed to let teachers discuss controversial issues in class and to shield them against being dumped in favor of lower-paid newcomers.

Mr. Durkin admits that, once on tenure, a teacher who loses energy or intellect is difficult to oust. But he argues that School Committees and administrators have ample time to assess someone's competence in three years and feels that superiors shouldn't try to take out their own mistakes on teachers.

Aid Group Luncheon Wednesday

The Lawrence General Hospital Aid Association will hold its annual luncheon meeting on Wednesday, May 17, at 12:30 p.m. in Kurth Auditorium at the Hospital.

This year's guest speaker is Theodore I. Anderson, M.D., assistant commissioner for state community mental health programs.

Dr. Anderson has been a lecturer in psychiatry and community mental health at Harvard Medical School, and has authored numerous published articles in his specialty field.

Aid Association members and their guests are urged to make early reservations for this meeting with Mrs. Donald Slipp, 40 Woodbridge Road, North Andover.

In 17th Century Europe, "wishing on a pretzel" was a popular wedding practice. Pulling on a pretzel from both sides, bride and groom would vie for the larger piece to make his or her wish come true.

La Leche Group Sets Schedule

The LaLeche League of Greater Lawrence will begin a new series of four meetings in Andover on Tuesday, May 16.

Andover mothers who are LaLeche League group leaders offering advice on breastfeeding to mother and new baby will meet at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Hayes, 160 Chestnut St.

The other meetings will be: The art of breastfeeding and overcoming difficulties on June 20; childbirth and the family, July 18; and nutrition and weaning on Aug. 15.

Meetings are now also held in Salem, N.H. at the home of Mrs. Marilyn Suszek, who may be contacted for further information.

Marriage Intentions

The following marriage intentions have been filed at the town clerk's office:

Richard L. Wise, 15 Glenville Ave., Allston and Eve-Ellen Iskols, 32 Riverina Road.

Victor P. Abate, 4 South Tanglewood Way and Marilyn A. Naymie, 22 Cerdarcrest Circle, West Roxbury.

Dana J. Summers, 8 Elm St. and Mary Jane Salinetti, Fairview St., Lee.

Stephen A. Zaremba, 421 South Main St. and Pamela G. Bunnell, 5813 Criener Road, Huntsville, Ala.

Donald W. Belisle, 242 Chandler Road and Jean E. Anderson, 39 Brown St.

Fire Log

The following is a report of the activities of the Andover Fire Department from May 2 through May 8.

May 2 - Park St., New England Tel. Co., truck fire; 111 North Main St., John Thorn, chimney fire.

The Andover Fire Department ambulance responded to nine calls during the same period.

If the entire world's food supply were distributed at the U.S. dietary level, it would feel about one-third of the world's population, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

IN REHEARSAL. Andover residents have major roles in the production of "Guys and Dolls," to be presented at George Washington Hall, May 17, 19 and 20. Here, director, Frank Bellizia, director, assists Ellen Hoitsma, who portrays Sarah and Robert Oliver, as Sky Masterson in a scene during rehearsal.

To Present 'Guys And Dolls'

The students of Phillips and Abbot academies will present the Frank Loesser comedy, "Guys and Dolls," on the evenings of May 17, 19 and 20 on the stage of George Washington Hall, Phillips Academy.

The musical parable of the 30's is based on a novel by Jo Swerling and Abe Burrows.

Andover residents will portray the four major roles in the production.

Appearing in the comic lead, P.A. senior Frank Cregg will make his stage debut as Nathan Detroit, a harried small-time gambler who lives precariously off horses and dice. In the other leading comic role, Pingree School senior, Amanda Royce, a veteran of the P.A. stage, will portray Adelaide, a night club singer who has developed a psychosomatic cold from waiting 14 years to marry Nathan.

P.A. senior Robert Olivier and Abbot senior-middler Ellen Hoitsma, star in dramatic leads as Sky Masterson and Sarah Brown. Masterson, cunning winner at all games of chance, bets Nathan that he can convince Sarah, a serious-minded Salvation Army lass, to accompany him to Havana. Although Masterson eventually wins the bet, he is forced to relinquish his fellow "crapshooters" to Sarah as souls for her mission.

Appearing as Nathan's right hand man, another Andover resident, P.A. upper-middler Richard Romeo will play the part of Benny Southstreet. Other cast members from the local area include Margaret Couch, Mary Broadus, Joanne Mossa and George Redman.

P.A. English instructor, Frank Bellizia, will direct the production, while music instructor William Schneider will serve as music director. Technical director for the show is Hart Leavitt, another English instructor at P.A. and Mrs. Lee Cioffi, a teacher at Pike school, will handle the choreography.

Reserved seats will be available for all productions except the Wednesday night performance.

Tickets can be purchased by writing to "Guys and Dolls," c/o William B. Clift, Phillips Academy, or may be purchased in advance at Graves Hall, the music building located off School street. Telephone orders can not be accomodated.

Fashion Show Scheduled At Portsmouth

Plans have been announced by Mrs. B. Allen Rowland, general chairman, for the Luncheon-Fashion Show to be held at Wentworth-by-the-Sea on Thursday, June 8.

Sponsored by the Guild of Strawbery Banke, Portsmouth, N.H., the proceeds will be used to further the work of the Strawbery Banke restoration project.

The cocktail hour will be at 12 noon, followed by luncheon at 1 p.m.

Fashions by Lilly Pulitzer, showing casual wear for one through ninety, will be modelled by both men and women. The line not only includes Lillys, but also Minnies for children and a thriving men's line called "Men's Stuff." There are golf lines for both sexes, tennis dresses and bathing suits.

Tickets are by invitation, and also may be obtained at Kingsbury and Shapley-Gookin Houses. Reservations close on June 1.

Pinewood Derby Due

Cub Scout Pack 72 Pinewood Derby will be held this Tuesday, May 16 in the Doherty School gym. Weigh-in will be promptly at 6:30 and the race should last until 8:30 p.m.

Since a photo-finish is anticipated each boy entering is asked to bring a cardboard name tag approximately 1 1/2 x 10" with his name clearly printed in magic marker.

OBITUARIES

DAVID A. BINNEY

Memorial services for David A. Binnie, 72, of Angus, Scotland, formerly of Andover, who died April 16, were held Tuesday at the Lundgren Funeral Home, 18 Elm St.

The long-time resident of Andover was employed in the produce department of the Andover Consumers Cooperative, before retirement and recent return to Scotland. He was a member of St. Matthews Lodge, A.F. and A.M. of Andover and attended Free Christian Church.

He is survived by two brothers and a sister in Scotland.

Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Memorial gifts may be made to the Free Christian Church Organ Fund, Andover.

DAVID BOZZI

David Bozzi, 57, 145 Argilla Road, was pronounced dead on arrival Friday, May 5 at Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, after being stricken after making a delivery in that area. The medical examiner gave the cause of death as coronary occlusion.

He was a truck driver with Lombard Trucking Co. and was a member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 25.

He was born in Boston and was a former resident of that city. He attended Holy Rosary Church, Lawrence.

Surviving are his wife, Katherine (Borelli) Torrisi Bozzi, two daughters, Mrs. Phyllis R. Boyd and Mrs. Jacqueline M. Leary, both of Medford; a son, David L. Bozzi of Fairfield, Conn.; two step-sons, James Torrisi of Fairfield, Conn., and Philip Torrisi of Warwick, R.I.; 10 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Alessio of Medford and Mrs. Lucy Marobella of North Reading; and two brothers, John of Medford and Peter of Roslindale.

The funeral was held Monday with a 10 a.m. Mass in Holy Rosary Church. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

MRS. IDA MAY BROWN

Committal services for Ida May Brown, who died Sept. 3, 1971, will be held Saturday, May 15, at 3 p.m. in the family plot in Christ Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Brown was born in Andover in 1882, the daughter of Elizabeth and William McTernan. She was the widow of J. Walter Brown.

She is survived by her daughter, Dorothea Holsten, of Evanston, Ill., with whom she made her home in later years, and by her daughter, Susan Blumer of Montana.

FREDERICK V. HUNT

Frederick V. Hunt, 53, 11 Tewksbury St., Ballardvale, died Sunday, May 7 at the Manchester, N.H. Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mr. Hunt was born in Quincy, June 12, 1918. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the U.S. Army in Europe. During his army service, he was with a railroad battalion. He worked for the Boston and Maine Railroad as a brakeman, and belonged to V.F.W. Post 8, Andover. He was a member of the Ballard Vale United Church.

He leaves his wife, the former Christina B. Lawrie; a son, Frederick V. Hunt, Jr. of Brewster; a daughter, Marjorie, wife of Larry Douglas of Ballardvale; a sister, Marjorie, wife of Stanley Chauncey of Wilmington; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Farmer and Dee Funeral Home, 16 Lee St., Tewksbury. Burial was in Tewksbury Cemetery.

To Replace Flags On Vets Graves

The Patriotic Holiday Committee, with the assistance of local Veterans' organizations, will replace the American Flags on the graves of all veterans who are interred in Andover cemeteries, prior to Memorial Day.

Members of American Legion, Post 8, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2128, will meet in Legion Hall on Sunday, May 14, at 1:15 p.m., to carry out this activity. In case of rain, they will meet on Sunday, May 21.

The assistance of all members of both Posts is needed, as there are more than 1000 graves to honor with a new Flag.

Ground Broken For Center

Ground has been broken in North Andover for Massachusetts' first Singer Learning Center -- a school designed for children from 3 to 8 years of age.

The ceremony, attended by state and local educators, government leaders and representatives of the press, was held at the three acre site of the new facility on Chickering Road (Route 125) in North Andover.

Dr. John Pastre, representative from division headquarters for Singer Learning Centers and well-known educator, and Miss Julie Gilbert, first child to enroll in the center, shared in the honor of breaking ground.

Representing state education were Thomas Passios, Mrs. Lillian Hartwick and Miss Mary Morrisey, from the North East Regional Center for the Massachusetts Education Department.

Other prominent educators present included Dr. Margaret Shannon from Lowell State College.

Representatives from various public school systems welcoming the new center were Henry C. Shelley from North Andover; Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, Andover and Dr. Fritz Lindquist, Lawrence.

Representing the North Andover Selectmen Committee was Joseph A. Guthrie. Also attending the ceremony was Marie Rawlings, the 4-C Coordinator.

The new Singer Learning Center will be completed by mid-August and is currently enrolling its first classes for September.

Mrs. Irene Rochwarg, director of the facility, has opened temporary registration headquarters at 451 Andover St., North Andover.

Morning Concert At Castle

A morning organ concert will be given by Kenneth Wilson, well-known organist, at the Hammond Castle, on Saturday morning, May 20 at 10:30 a.m. This is in response to a request from people who do not like to drive in the evening. There are special rates for senior citizens, and a special group rate for twenty-five persons or more.

Mr. Wilson will also present a concert in the evening at 8:30, with a special group from the St. Mary's Sodality of Beverly, Mrs. Alice Burns, chairman. This concert is open to the public also, and tickets may be obtained from the Hammond Castle box office, or reserved by telephone.

The concert programs include music from Camelot, The Sound of Music, the King of Kings, Ava Maria by Schubert; and music by Strauss and Chopin. Some of the selections being played by Mr. Wilson are available on his most recent recording "Summer Pops at the Castle," on sale in the Museum Gift Shop.

Unique Open House In Reading

Saturday, May 20, is the day to see how some one with a bold imagination decorates her 1907 home. She painted two of the dining room walls in black, put black and gold flecked mirror tiles on the third side, set it all off with a red oriental rug, hung a crystal chandelier and set a tea service on the buffet. She refinished two Renaissance revival chairs, upholstered them in red antique velvet and placed them at a reproduction fourth century trestle table. This is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Matthews, 91 Prospect St., Reading, who invites the public on May 20 from 1 to 4 p.m. for the benefit of the Parker Tavern, Reading's house-museum.

Mrs. Matthews says she does this with second-hand pieces of good design, plenty of work and a minimum of money. Since she is outnumbered 3 to 1 in this household, she felt the place needed a masculine feel, to be easy to care for and to be able to be lived in by a busy husband, two active boys and three large dogs.

The stark white living room walls make an ideal background for the original mountain painting done by a professional. The bay window overlooks the terraced pool area where hopefully the flowering trees and plants will be in bloom for that afternoon. This is also the view from the breakfast room with its yellow ceiling, and its vinyl paper of old flowers in red yellow and white.

The boys' room is papered with book jackets and a former dressing room is now where the boys have their desks, books and hobby material.

The master bedroom is an eye catcher. The walls are red with two foil panels of shimmering red, called "The Secretarial Pool." They need to be seen, not just described. The vanity, another of Mrs. Matthews finds, is painted a regal gold.

It would not be fair to let the public in on all the details in advance for part of the fun will be the surprises.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

Urban Studies Group Offers Services

Bradford Junior College's newly established Institute of Urban Studies will begin on June 11. Several girls enrolled in the program are initiating a summer cleaning service to help finance their expenses while studying in London. They intend to work Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on a weekly basis, from twelve noon until five p.m. The service is arranged to run from June 13 through Aug. 15.

"This is a golden opportunity for anyone who wants their household work conscientiously done, but would rather find a more relaxing way to spend hot summer days," suggests Bee Stuart, a member of the service, "we are extremely capable and experienced girls who will do any washing, ironing, scrubbing, mopping, etc. needed to be done."

Contact Beryl Bergen at the college and one of us will come to your house.

Summer Courses Offered

Merrimack College will offer extension courses this summer in Conversational French and Spanish. These courses are especially designed for travelers and those wishing to acquaint themselves with basic elements of conversation in every day situations. No previous French or Spanish is required but desired.

The eight-week program will begin in mid-June, with classes meeting three nights a week. The teachers are Richard Boulanger, French, and Paul S. Brown, Spanish.

Those wishing further information should call the Part-Time Division of Merrimack College.

Arbor Day Centennial Observed

PLANTING a tree for arbor day as part of the centennial observance of the event, was Dr. Donald Wyman, a resident of Andover and former director of the Arnold Arboretum, right. Tree Supt. Philip Busby assisted in the planting, a part of the Andover Garden Club annual program.

Arbor Day, April 28, marked the centennial celebration of that occasion. J. Sterling Morton in 1872 conceived the idea and it was observed in Nebraska with the planting of more than a million trees. To mark the occasion each year the Andover Garden Club plants on municipal properties a tree.

This year the tree is a Sorbus Arnoldiana, a hybrid first raised at the Arnold Arboretum in Jamaica Plain. It is a cross between a Rowan Tree and a Snowberry Mountain Ash and produces pink fruits. This tree was received as a gift by the Andover Garden Club from the director and staff of the Arnold Arboretum, which also celebrates its 100th year in 1972.

The tree has been planted in the Town Park in front of East Junior High School. Andover resident, and noted horticulturist, Dr. Donald Wyman, former director of the Arboretum, attended the planting ceremony along with Mrs. Ralph Preble, Andover Garden Club President, J. Maynard Austin, town manager, Philip Busby, tree superintendent and Director of Public Works, Robert McQuade.

"Replenishing The Environment" has been the 1971-72 theme of the Andover Garden Club. One of the aims to implement this theme is the encouragement and support of planting fine quality trees in municipal areas, parks and street sides. Philip Busby has planted in Andover some rare and unusual trees in the past 15 years.

All Garden Clubs in the Commonwealth are joining in the "Spring Offensive" sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency and the Governor's office. Next Saturday the objective is Park and Reservation Clean-Up. Andover citizens, let us all get this job done so that we can report to the Governor's Task Force that Andover's Spring Offensive was a smashing success!

Win Awards At Essex Flower Show

Andover Junior Garden Club members were awarded many prizes at the Flower Show "New England Weather" held at Essex Agricutlural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, recently.

In Cast

Miss Denise Maloney, sophomore and Miss Rosemarie L. Ardonato, a junior, Andover students at Merrimack College, were members of the cast of the On-Stagers production of "Marat-Sade" presented last weekend at the college.

Mrs. Daniel Seiver

Siever - Roediger

Dwight Chapel, Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut, was the setting on May 6 for the marriage of Barbara Eastwood Roediger, daughter of former Andover residents Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Roediger, presently residing on Long Island in Brookville, N.Y. The bridegroom, Daniel Seiver, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Seiver of Clayton, Mo.

The bride's sister, Jane Roediger, was maid of honor. Mrs. Peter Hicks of Washington, D.C., a classmate of the bride at Mount Holyoke and Mrs. Richard Mandell of New York City, the sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids.

David Seiver, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert Hoffman, a classmate of the bridegroom at Yale University and Frank Roediger, brother of the bride.

Since graduating from Mount Holyoke College the bride has been an analyst at the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City.

The bridegroom, a magna cum laude graduate of Yale University, is presently studying toward a doctorate at that University.

The bride's father is associated with Sperry Gyroscope in Great Neck, N.Y. The bridegroom's father is associated with Liberty Loan Corporation in St. Louis, Mo.

After a reception in the Social Room of Dwight Chapel the couple departed for a honeymoon in Bermuda. Upon their return they will reside in Meriden, Conn.

University Women To Elect

The American Association of University Women will meet on Thursday, May 18 at 8 p.m. at the Brooks School in North Andover to hold their annual meeting with the election of officers.

Mrs. Louise Lunder, a librarian at Phillips Academy will present a Book Review of suggested summer reading for members. Mrs. Lunder, a University of Wisconsin graduate, will discuss several books, among them "Future Shock" by Toffler; "Jennie" by Martin; and "Ali and Nino" by Said.

Study groups will report on their activities for the past year. The Chairmen for these include Mrs. Judith Yelle, Literature; Mrs. Ruthann Budrewicz, Consumer Problems; Mrs. Carol Hinkel, Cultural Interests; and Mrs. Pat Stead and Mrs. Mary McQuade, Bridge.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Barbara Loughner, Mrs. Mary Kay Hervol and Mrs. Suzanne McGrail.

Newcomers Plan Night At Pops

Mrs. Richard Shupe, president of the Andover, North Andover Newcomers Club, has announced that the club has available a block of tickets for the Boston Pops concert for the evening of Saturday, June 17.

Tickets may be obtained by sending a check along with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Waller Howard, 193 Chestnut St., Andover, by May 18.

Memorial Hall Library

More Good Art

The Festival of the Arts at the library is flourishing. During the week ahead there will be three more exciting programs presented in the Memorial Hall upstairs at the library. On Monday, May 15, the High School A Cappella Choir will sing at 7:30 p.m. The Choir will present the Madrigal Singers also and a varied musical program will result. The A Cappella Choir has been acclaimed everywhere it has sung this season; a crowded Hall is anticipated and we advise you to come early. On Tuesday, May 16, four ladies will demonstrate their artistic craft. Mrs. Norma Gammon of 115 Abbott St. will paint in water-colors, Mrs. Frances McCormick will demonstrate hand-built pottery, and Barbara Boes will do some weaving on her loom. From Lawrence, Mrs. Marie Pitochelli will do needlework, particularly Bardello embroidery. All these crafts-people are expert in their field and they will be glad to help you with any problems you might be having in the same craft. On Tuesday, May 17, four more artists will be on hand to intrigue you. Mrs. Beth Myszewski will do wheel pottery, Mrs. Corinne Staid will paint in oils, Nancy MacCausland will also paint and Leo Constantino from North Andover will sculp. The artists will be on hand both Monday and Tuesday from 7 to 9 in the evening. They will welcome your questions and comments.

Two Andover artists have work hanging in the Memorial Hall during the entire Festival. Mrs. Eleanor Lander has five large works done in acrylics, one in oils, and a huge, alphabet poster done with silk-screening. Mr. H. I. Shumway has loaned 12 watercolors of local and nearby scenes.

Films

The Film Program for Senior Citizens will be held on May 18 at 2 p.m. in the Baptist Church. Miss Baranowski will show two films: Van Meegren's Faked Vermeers and Eye of the Beholder.

Noon Group

The last meeting of the year for this group will be held on Monday, May 15, at 1 p.m. The book discussion will be led by Mrs. Eartha Dengler about Philip Stater's book Pursuit of Loneliness. Everyone who is interested and who has read the book is invited to attend.

Children's Room

How do you see your world? The emphasis is on the visual in the Children's Room during the month of May. Come in and glimpse one man's view in the display of evocative photographs by Richard Graber. Perhaps you'll even be stirred to capture your own world on film!

For those who see the world as very tall - the 3 1/2 - 5 year olds - registration for the Littlest Listener program running from October 1972 - May 1973 will be held during the week of May 22nd. Prospective members of the four groups (twenty per group) must be Andover residents 3 1/2 - 5 years old who have never been part of Littlest Listeners before and who will not be attending school of any kind during the 1972-1973 school year. No "waiting list" will be used prior to the announced registration date.

Here's the scoop on the Children's Art Festival to be held throughout the week of May 22nd. During the entire week, Bancroft School will be represented by displays of pottery, weaving, paintings, drawings, and puppets in the Children's Room.

On Monday, the 22nd, students from Sanborn and Shawsheen will demonstrate straw-loom weaving from 3:30 - 5 p.m. Helpers from Shawsheen haven't been picked yet, but those from Sanborn will be Tim Sweeney, Mark Fitzpatrick, Steve Nyman and Michael DeSalvo. If you'd like to try weaving yourself, bring some yarn!

Bonnie DeRosa, Heidi Smith, Kathleen Sullivan and Cornelius Cronin, fifth and sixth graders at West Elementary School, will demonstrate scratchboard art on Tuesday, the 23rd. Are you a scratchboard artist? Bring a coin, a bobby pin, or some other safe scratching tool and find out!

Wednesday, the 24th, will be a day of sunshine - we hope! It will at least be a day of brightness, since that's the day Donna Fowlie, Timmy Foote, Carolyn Foote, and others from South and Shawsheen schools will demonstrate tie-dying techniques. If Children's Room visitors would like to try some dyes, they are asked to bring light or white materials (T-shirts, etc.) with them. Tie-dyed pillowcases and sheets make beautiful wall hangings!

On Thursday, the 25th, Doherty's first graders will show their creativity with fingerpaints. Ambitious artists who'd like to join in the fun are asked to bring in their own shelfpaper to paint on.

Many thanks are due art teachers Judy Hodges, Bob Gillespie, Jean Goldman and Ann Foley, who have helped plan the program from its beginning. They, and we at the Library, hope you'll warm up your play clothes and be ready to participate!

Two Concerts At Castle

There will be two Kenneth Wilson Concerts at the Hammond Castle on Saturday, May 20. In the morning at 10:30, there will be an Organ Concert, with special prices for Golden Agers, and for groups.

In the evening there will be a similar concert by Mr. Wilson, with a special group from Saint Mary's Sodality of Beverly planning to attend this concert which is also open to the public. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Wilson's program includes many favorites, the theme from Love Story; Moon River; The Shadow of Your Smile; Tara's Theme; My Moonlight Madonna; An Irish Rhapsody; Ave Maria; music from Camelot and The Sound of Music; music of Idabelle Firestone; the theme from King of Kings; and the Triumphant March from El Cid. Some of these numbers have been recorded on a new organ album by Mr. Wilson, and is available at the Hammond Castle Gift Shop.

For reservations, please telephone or write the Hammond Castle, P.O. Box 141, Gloucester.

PACKING STORAGE - LOCAL & LONG DISTANCE MOVING

Rhubarb Begins To Arrive

The first of the local rhubarb crop began arriving at wholesale markets last week, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, and supplies are increasing daily. It's our first outdoor spring crop, and right on schedule.

Dandelion greens -- the early settlers' base for "spring tonic" but now cooked and served like spinach -- will be found on some produce counters, along with an increasing supply of delicious greenhouse-grown tomatoes and cucumbers from nearby growers. Arrivals are increasing now, and prices declining.

Rhubarb grows like a vegetable, but it is a fruit, both in the ways it is used and by legal definition. In one of those classic court cases -- the controversy was over whether an Ohio grower should pay fruit or vegetable freight rates -- rhubarb was declared once and for all to be a fruit. Just file that away in your mental thesaurus of trivial information.

In any case, it is a spring crop with a fairly short season. Rhubarb of good quality is firm and crisp but tender. It is either red or bright pink in color. The stalk should be fairly thick -- skinny stalks tend to be stringy.

It can be made into sauces, stews, pies, cakes, jams and marmalade; or canned or frozen with sugar syrup. It combines well with many other fruits, notably oranges and strawberries. If you can boil water, you can make rhubarb sauce, a supply of which can be kept in a covered bowl in the refrigerator and served at will:

Wash two lbs. rhubarb, cut into half-inch cubes. Place in pan containing one inch of water. Cover tightly, simmer about 45 minutes. Remove cover, cook until most of water is evaporated. Sweeten with one cup sugar. Serve alone as a fruit sauce, or with roast lamb or veal, or poured over plain cake for dessert. Other fruits or fruit juices may be added if desired. Makes about three cups.

Broilers are very reasonably priced at all markets this week, and eggs from nearby farms rate Best Buy status in all sizes.

Confirmation Service Set For Temple

The Confirmation exercises for this year's tenth grade class at Temple Emanuel, Lawrence, will be held on Thursday evening, May 18, the Eve. of Shavuot. On this Festival of Matan Torah - the giving of the Torah, young people of Reform Congregations throughout America participate in this special Service of Rededication. The service is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. The entire congregation and community of Greater Lawrence is invited to attend.

Being confirmed this year are the following young people: Joyce Abugov, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Abugov; Debra Budd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Budd; David Cheyette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Cheyette; Donna Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cohen; Bernard Edelstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Edelstein; Steven Feinberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feinberg; Holly Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Fisher; Debra Nannis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Nannis; Aaron Poretsky son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Poretsky; Julie Russem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Russem; Brian Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Schneider; Laurence Slovin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Slovin; Craig Traub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Traub; Linda Turow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turow; Sharon Urdang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Urdang and Terri Samel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Samel.

The Festival of Shavuot Religious Services will also be held on Friday morning, May 19, at 10:30 a.m. This service, conducted by Rabbi Harry A. Roth and Cantor Irving Shuman will include the Yizkor Memorial Prayers.

The custom of observing one day of Shavuot prevails in the land of Israel and throughout Liberal Congregations in the United States and throughout the world. The traditionalist Jew and the congregations to which he belongs follows the custom of observing two days of Shavuot and will thus mark the close of the Festival on Saturday, May 20.

The Disparity Of Eagles

by Wayne Hanley

Men killed more than 700 golden eagles out West last spring.

Now a man at Ithaca, N.Y., is encouraging a captive golden eagle to hatch four fertile eggs which she produced.

Disparity on that scale could lead to an eagle-less world.

Nevertheless, the work of James Grier, a graduate student at Cornell University, constitutes a momentous step toward guaranteeing that even our abused world may have eagles. It would be far cheaper, of course, to halt the killing of eagles. Eagles produce eagles for free. It costs money in Ithaca.

Grier's work with golden eagles is a phase of the Cornell peregrine falcon program. In the search for viable means to perpetuate the rare and endangered peregrine -- which already has disappeared from the Northeast -- researchers study the breeding biology of a span of birds of prey for information that might be used on peregrines.

Grier has resorted to the most artificial natural way (perhaps the mutually exclusive words "artificial" and "natural" can be paired under these circumstances) to produce young eagles.

For instance, the golden eagle hen sitting on eggs regards Grier as a male golden eagle. Her eggs were fertilized by artificial insemination. So far as she is concerned, Grier and she have mutual responsibilities toward all phases of eagle production -- including incubating the eggs!

No, Grier does not sit upon the eggs. But something very similar happens a couple of times a day when Grier relieves the incubating female. What is important in their relationship is the fact that without his cooperation, the eagle would become frustrated from continuous incubating and desert the nest.

Although her flight pen is in a Cornell laboratory, the eagle never sees humans other than Grier. Others may watch her through one-way windows, however.

When Grier enters the flight pen, he carries a dead chicken and a hot water bottle warmed to 102 degrees -- the temperature of an eagle's brood patches which develop on incubating birds. The delivery of food is a task typical to the male golden eagle. The female greets Grier with the same ritual reserved for a mate who has arrived to give her incubation relief. Then she flies around the pen and begins eating the chicken. Grier places the hot water bottle on the eggs and sits beside the nest. After 30 minutes of food and exercise, the female returns to the nest and in front of Grier goes through the ritual she would use in telling a male golden eagle that she was ready to resume incubation. Grier removes the water bottle and leaves.

The laboratory houses also six pairs of peregrines, five gyrfalcon pairs, four prairie falcon pairs, two lanner falcon pairs, one goshawk pair, one Cooper's hawk pair, five Harris hawk pairs, three red-tailed hawk pairs, one martial eagle pair and one bateleur eagle pair.

The goal of the laboratory is to produce peregrine falcons that can be returned to the wild.

Parakeets (miniature parrots) are native to inland Australia where they gather in flocks. The Aboriginals call them budgerigar, which means, "bird pretty good to eat." In 1840, four pairs were taken to England for breeding; now, there are about 25 million domesticated parakeets in the U.S., the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Winter's Salt Takes Its Toll Of Grass, Plants

Winter is over, and with it the snow, but the salt that melted last winter's storms is still there doing its thing.

Its thing happens to be killing plants and dribbling down into the water supply.

If you notive that the grass near the street looks rather dismal this spring, while the grass in the rest of your yard is greening up nicely, you may have a problem with last winter's salt.

Unfortunately, it may be easier to diagnose the problem than to find a solution.

I asked Henry Wendler of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society what kind of shrub one might plant by the side of the road that would be hardy in spite of the salt slush thrown up by the snowplow.

He said, "I have yet to come across anything that will withstand a heavy concentration of salt."

When I asked if one might try planting the sort of thing that grows well by the seashore, such as beach roses, he pointed out that the plants which do well by the seashore may withstand salt in the air well, but not necessarily salt in the water. And besides, a planting of beach roses (rosa regosa) as a hedge in the front yard might be a rather thorny solution to the problem. "This whole question needs more research," he said.

Thalassa Cruso in her new book, Making Things Grow Outdoors, (Knopf), suggests some possible solutions.

One is to make a walkway, or as she calls it "artificial floor" of a material like concrete blocks, which will take the worst of the splash.

Another possibility is a fence several feet high which will deflect the salt water back into the road. You may find this necessary especially if you have valuable trees near the road. A lawn can simply be moved back a few feet, but not a well-established tree.

Mrs. Cruso also suggests using sturdy ground-cover shrubs. In her own yard, beside the road, she used dwarf mugho pines, dwarf junipers, and heather. The gaps between the new plants were mulched and set with creeping plants like thyme and bearberry.

I suspect that the success of shrubs depends on the amount of salt put on a particular road.

The best solution to the problem is still that of the Massachusetts Audubon Society: work to have your town discontinue the use of salt on its roads. A combination of sanding and plowing does extremely well, without the undesirable side effects. It has been shown that eliminating salting cuts down on the speeding, without increasing the accident rate.

Working to stop using salt on snowy roads will protect your yard, your neighbor's yard, and your water supply as well.

Winter environments are threatened by two million snowmobiles in North America. The noise terrifies some wildlife and affects their breeding patterns. Constant pressure on the snow forces some small animals that spend the winter beneath the snow, to move away; the tops of small trees are broken and spring crops may be affected, according to the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

BIKE RODEO. A special bicycle rodeo was held at the Bancroft school last Saturday, featuring prizes for various events as well as an explanation and demonstration of safety measures to be taken by 'cyclists given by Safety Officer Richard Aumais. Here, Robert Finlayson, Kirk Liponis and Billy Scheerer, proceed through one of the courses.

Students Warned

All Andover high school students have been notified of the consequences of any mass absence from classes.

In a notice circulated this week, the school administration noted:

"It has come to the attention of the administration that a day of mass absence here at Andover High school is planned for the very near future.

Too often the problems of this sort have been brought to the attention of the student body after the infraction has been committed.

"We would-in advance-like to remind those who might become involved in a situation of this type that school attendance is compulsory on this or any other day unless excused by the parent or guardian.

"All unexcused absences will be treated as truancies with the resulting penalties.

"We would caution all students that they should avoid any situation which might mar their permanent records for later work or college use."

Welfare Hours At Town Hall

The Andover Welfare office has officially been moved to the Bay State building in Lawrence.

The office and staff were moved to Lawrence last week, despite efforts of the past several weeks to retain a local office for Andover welfare recipients.

George Shipley, former director of the Andover office, reports that a welfare agent will be at the Andover town hall on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month to assist new applicants or emergency cases only.

The agent will be located in the emergency employment office at the rear of the town hall, near the former location of the police station.

The merging of the Andover office into the regional district was announced earlier this year and was scheduled for late February.

Junk Car Warning

Letters are being forwarded to residents of the community found to be in violation of storing unregistered vehicles on their property.

Building Inspector Arthur Peatman met with Town Manager J. Maynard Austin Tuesday to review the matter, something the two officials do annually in an effort to keep abreast of the problem.

The selectmen have insisted on enforcement of bylaws affecting so called "junk cars," in residential areas.

While actual figures were not available, the amount of violations reported this week appeared lower than a year ago.

The matter is one of a persistent nature, needing regular attention to prevent the problem from becoming flagrant.
